RE: Recusal of Justice Terrence O'Donnell
Daniel Stolz v. J&B Steel Erectors, Inc., et al., Case No. 2015-0628

Dear Ms. Grosko,

I am writing pursuant to S.Ct.Prac.R. 4.04 to request that Justice Terrence O'Donnell recuse himself from participating in Case No. 2015-0628, Daniel Stolz v. J&B Steel Erectors, Inc., et al., before the Court as a certified question of Ohio law from the United States District Court for the Southern District of Ohio. Although not a party, Cincinnati Insurance Co. has a substantial interest in the outcome of the case, as it issued each insurance policy at issue in the case. Cincinnati Insurance Co., along with its employees and affiliate companies, donated a substantial amount of money to the 2012 reelection campaign of Justice O'Donnell—far more than any other organization. Combined, Cincinnati Insurance Co. and related persons and entities donated approximately $31,613.34 to Justice O'Donnell, more than five percent of the total contributions he received. The Plaintiff/Appellee Daniel Stolz gave nothing to his campaign. I believe that such substantial contributions from one interested party creates a situation in which Justice O'Donnell's impartiality might reasonably be questioned.

I am submitting a similar request for the recusal of Chief Justice Maureen O'Connor and Justices Sharon Kennedy, Judith Ann Lanzinger, and Judith French. In accordance with S.Ct.Prac.R. 4.04, my affidavit in support of this request is attached as Appendix 1.

Procedural Background Of Case

On December 31, 2014, Judge Timothy Black of the United States District Court for the Southern District of Ohio issued an order denying a motion for summary judgment filed by several subcontractors in Stolz v. J&B Steel Erectors, Inc., et al., Case No. 1:14-cv-00044, who argued that they were entitled to workers' compensation immunity by virtue of their participation in a wrap up policy purchased by general contractor Messer Construction. None of these subcontractors directly or indirectly employed Stolz. All of these subcontractors seeking immunity are insured for liability claims by Cincinnati Insurance Co.

On April 13, 2015, upon motion of several Defendants, Judge Black certified the following question to this Court:

> Whether Ohio Rev. Code §§ 4123.35 and 4123.74 provide immunity to subcontractors enrolled in a Workers' Compensation self-insurance plan from tort claims made by employees of [other] enrolled subcontractors injured while working on the self-insured project.

On June 24, 2015, this Court agreed to accept the question as certified by Judge Black. The Court granted the petitioners 40 days to file their merit briefs, with subsequent briefs due in accordance with the Court's rules.

Cincinnati Insurance Co. And The Supreme Court Of Ohio

After I learned that Cincinnati Insurance Co. was a substantial contributor to the campaigns of several members of the Court, I researched campaign contributions from employees of Cincinnati Insurance Co., as well as contributions from employees of related entities, including Cincinnati Financial Corp., John J. & Thomas R. Schiff & Company, Inc., and the Schiff family. The Ohio Secretary of State maintains an online database of campaign contributions that is searchable by the employer of the donor. Spreadsheets containing detailed information of the contributions from employees of each company, as well as contributions from the Schiff family, are attached.

During his 2012 reelection campaign, Justice O'Donnell received at least $31,613.34 from Cincinnati Insurance Co. and related persons and entities. (See Appendix 2). Justice O'Donnell received $16,074.67 from 52 employees of Cincinnati Financial Corp., $9,258.67 from 35 employees of Cincinnati Insurance Co., and $6,280.00 from 7 employees of John J. & Thomas R. Schiff & Company, Inc. These contributions constituted approximately 5.67% of all contributions he received.

Justice Kennedy also received substantial donations from Cincinnati Insurance Co. and related persons and entities, totaling at least $51,875.00, during her 2014 reelection campaign. (See Appendix 3). Chief Justice O'Connor received approximately $46,050.00 from Cincinnati Insurance Co. and related persons and entities during her 2010 campaign. (See Appendix 4). Justice Lanzinger received approximately $46,650.00 from Cincinnati Insurance Co. and related persons and entities during her 2010 campaign. (See Appendix 5). Justice French received approximately $53,500.00 during her 2014 campaign. (See Appendix 6).

My research has led me to conclude that, outside of the Republican Party, Cincinnati Insurance Co. and related persons and entities are collectively the single largest donor to five members of this Court.

Standard For Recusal

Rule 2.11 of Ohio's Code of Judicial Conduct provides: "A judge shall disqualify himself or herself in any proceeding in which the judge's impartiality might reasonably be questioned . . . ." (Emphasis original). The rule also identifies several circumstances under which impartiality might reasonably be questioned.

Large Campaign Contributors By Interested Parties Deny Other Litigants Due Process

In Caperton v. A.T. Massey Coal Co., Inc. 556 U.S. 868 (2009), the Supreme Court of the United States held that the Due Process Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment was violated when a justice who cast a deciding vote in a case decided 3-2 by the Supreme Court of Appeals of West Virginia declined to recuse himself from a case. The Court examined for the first time the effect of campaign finance on due process.

A justice on the Supreme Court of Appeals of West Virginia, Brent Benjamin, twice declined to recuse himself even though the principal of a company appealing a $50 million verdict against it spent more than $3,000,000 in support of Justice Benjamin's election bid. Twice, Justice Benjamin voted with a 3-2 majority to overturn the jury verdict.

The Court emphasized that the question is not whether actual bias exists, because there is no objective measure of actual bias, but whether the appearance of bias requires recusal. The Court found that a jurist's examination of his own personal bias is not enough to ensure due process.

> In lieu of exclusive reliance on that personal inquiry, or on appellate review of the judge's determination respecting actual bias, the Due Process Clause has been implemented by objective standards that do not require proof of actual bias. In defining these standards the Court has asked whether, "under a realistic appraisal of psychological tendencies and human weakness," the interest "poses such a risk of actual bias or prejudgment that the practice must be forbidden if the guarantee of due process is to be adequately implemented."

Id. at 883-84.

"Due process requires an objective inquiry into whether the contributor's influence on the election under all the circumstances 'would offer a possible temptation to the average . . . judge to . . . lead him to not hold the balance nice, clear and true.'" Id. at 885.

Earlier this year, the Supreme Court of the United States once again examined judicial elections when it considered whether Florida's ban on personal solicitation of campaign funds by judicial candidates was constitutional in Williams-Yulee v. Florida Bar, __ U.S. __, 135 S.Ct. 1656 (2015).

"Judges, charged with exercising strict neutrality and independence, cannot supplicate campaign donors without diminishing public confidence in judicial integrity." Id. "[J]ustice must satisfy the appearance of justice." Id., quoting Offutt v. United States, 348 U.S. 11, 14 (1954). "In short, it is the regrettable but unavoidable appearance that judges who personally ask for money may diminish their integrity that prompted the Supreme Court of Florida and most other States to sever the direct link between judicial candidates and campaign contributors."

Basis For Recusal Request In This Case

Cincinnati Insurance Co. has not expended millions of dollars to secure the election of any one member of this Court, as in Massey Coal, nor has any member of this Court improperly solicited campaign funds directly from Cincinnati Insurance Co., as in Williams-Yulee. But this case presents an equally troubling scenario: one insurance company being the single largest donor, by a large margin, to five of the seven members of the Court.

Cincinnati Insurance Co.'s massive donations to the members of this Court give the inescapable appearance that the company, as Justice Pfeifer lamented in a 2006 New York Times article, "mean[s] to be buying a vote."[1] In 2014, employees of Cincinnati Insurance Co. and related entities donated $139,637.99 to all candidates for Ohio office, and $101,775.00 of that total, 73%, was donated to the two members of this Court running for reelection. (See Appendix 7). There were, of course, several other important state-wide elections in 2014, including Governor, Secretary of State, and Attorney General, as well as elections for the Ohio legislature and countless local races.

That Cincinnati Insurance Co. made substantial contributions to two judicial candidates, but not to candidates for legislative or executive branch positions, suggests that Cincinnati Insurance Co. wanted something in return. As the Supreme Court of the United States noted in Williams-Yulee, judicial elections are far more susceptible to corruption by large campaign contributions, and therefore are properly subjected to greater regulation.

> Politicians are expected to be appropriately responsive to the preferences of their supporters. Indeed, such "responsiveness is key to the very concept of self-governance through elected officials." The same is not true of judges. In deciding cases, a judge is not to follow the preferences of his supporters, or provide any special consideration to his campaign donors. A judge instead must "observe the utmost fairness," striving to be "perfectly and completely independent, with nothing to influence or controul [sic] him but God and his conscience."

135 S.Ct. at 1667, quoting McCutcheon v. Federal Election Comm'n, 572 U.S. __, 134 S.Ct. 1434, 1462 (2014) and Address of John Marshall, in Proceedings and Debates of the Virginia State Convention of 1829-1830, p. 616 (1830). By giving 73% of all donations to two candidates for the Supreme Court, rather than to legislative or executive candidates, Cincinnati Insurance Co. gives the appearance that it is trying to influence the one branch of government that should not be influenced. Litigants opposing Cincinnati Insurance Co. may reasonably question the Court's impartiality under these circumstances.

Also significant, employees of other large property and casualty insurance companies based in Ohio, including Nationwide and Safe Auto, did not make significant contributions to members of this Court running for election in 2014. Why has one entity outspent all others, within its industry and without, to support the candidacies of Justices of the Supreme Court of Ohio?

There can be no doubt that Cincinnati Insurance Co.'s unusually large contributions to five sitting Supreme Court justices give the appearance that Cincinnati Insurance Co. wants something in exchange for its support. Cincinnati Insurance Co. did not donate any money to the opponents of Chief Justice O'Connor or Justices Kennedy, French, O'Donnell or Lanzinger. Nor did Cincinnati Insurance Co. donate any money to Justices Pfeifer or O'Neill. Any fair, impartial, disinterested litigant would have to believe that Cincinnati Insurance Co. gave that money expecting a favorable ruling for cases involving it. Cincinnati Insurance Co. wants to avoid paying for Daniel Stolz's injuries.

Daniel Stolz has given nothing to any of the members of this Court. He does not have the financial resources to match the more than $230,000 Cincinnati Insurance Co. has donated to members of this Court in their last elections alone. He was seriously injured and can barely make a living. How can he ever believe he will get a fair hearing with Cincinnati Insurance Co. showering money on justices in amounts that are unconscionable? It's not the fault of the individual justices that Cincinnati Insurance Co. has created the appearance of power and influence. But it is up to the individual justices to step away and let this case be decided by judges who have not received money from Cincinnati Insurance Co.

If we examine the conduct of Cincinnati Insurance Co. and related entities during the 2014 Supreme Court of Ohio elections, it is easy to understand why the general public, whose confidence in the judiciary is essential to democracy, and Plaintiff/Appellee Daniel Stolz might reasonably question Justice O'Donnell's impartiality. More than $100,000 was given in the 2014 election cycle, while Hoyle v. DTJ Enterprises, Inc., 2015-Ohio-843, was pending. Cincinnati Insurance Co. wanted the Court to find that an insurance policy it issued and received premiums for did not cover the very conduct the policy was issued to cover. That case was decided in Cincinnati Insurance Co.'s favor on March 12, 2015. The five justices who received substantial contributions from Cincinnati Insurance Co.—Chief Justice O'Connor and Justices Kennedy, French, O'Donnell, and Lanzinger—voted in favor of Cincinnati Insurance Co. in that case. The remaining two justices dissented. Within weeks of that victory, Cincinnati Insurance Co. asked the District Court to certify the question of law in this case.

In his dissenting opinion in Hoyle, Justice O'Neill, joined by Justice Pfeifer, lamented the "money-driven efforts" to limit employer intentional torts, as well as the "brazen" and "disingenuous" arguments from Cincinnati Insurance Co. that the majority found persuasive. Justice O'Neill was particularly troubled by the fact that Cincinnati Insurance Co. drafted the policy and collected premiums for the policy, and then refused to honor the policy on grounds that its own policy violated public policy. Justice O'Neill asked: "Can this court truly countenance an insurance company's assertion that it should be permitted to collect a premium for an event that is never going to occur?" The only five members of the Court who could countenance Cincinnati Insurance Co.'s argument are the same five members who received substantial campaign contributions from Cincinnati Insurance Co. The Stolz case once again puts a question involving an employer intentional tort claim against several of Cincinnati Insurance Co.'s insureds before this Court. And once again Cincinnati Insurance Co. stands to reap a substantial benefit if some or all of the justices to whom it has made enormous campaign contributions rule in its favor.

The conduct of Cincinnati Insurance Co. is appalling, unfair, and a slap to the face of all Ohioans. Cincinnati Insurance Co. has put five justices in an impossible quandary—either sit on a case involving a substantial interest of their largest campaign contributor or temporarily step aside from the office to which they were elected. Certainly if Cincinnati Insurance Co. really wants this case decided in a way that ensures public confidence in the judiciary, it would not oppose this recusal request.

Although uncommon, there is precedent for a majority of the justices of this Court recusing themselves from a particular case. In 2005, Chief Justice Moyer and Justices Lanzinger, O'Connor, O'Donnell, and Lundberg-Stratton recused themselves from three cases involving a prominent Republican fundraiser, Thomas Noe. Though the cases did not involve Mr. Noe directly, they involved public records requests related to frauds of which Mr. Noe had been accused.

Though the justices declined to specifically explain their decisions not to hear the case, they all had received campaign contributions from Mr. Noe, totaling $23,510 for all five justices.[2] Chief Justice Moyer indicated in a written statement that his decision was guided by the fact that he had received campaign contributions which could give rise to the appearance of conflict, and because the decision could have personal ramifications for Mr. Noe.[3] Cincinnati Insurance Co.'s contributions are substantially greater, and there are substantial financial ramifications for Cincinnati Insurance Co. in this case and in the future for all wrap up policies Cincinnati Insurance Co. issues. The Court's decision in this case will have a substantial impact on Cincinnati Insurance Co.'s bottom line.

Despite the reasonable limits on judicial solicitation and judicial contributions, it is clear that Cincinnati Insurance Co. has waged a legal but calculated campaign to influence the outcome of judicial elections in Ohio. Even if members of this Court believe they can act impartially, the appearance of partiality is simply too great.

Both the Due Process Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment and Ohio's Code of Judicial Conduct compel disqualification of Justice O'Donnell and the other four Justices who received substantial contributions. Cincinnati Insurance Co.'s enormously disproportionate contributions pose an impermissible risk of prejudgment in its favor that runs afoul of the Fourteenth Amendment. The apparent bias deliberately created by Cincinnati Insurance Co. "poses such a risk of actual bias or prejudgment" that Justice O'Donnell's consideration of this case, in which Cincinnati Insurance Co. has a substantial monetary interest, must be "forbidden." Massey Coal, 556 U.S. at 883-84.

Ohio's Code of Judicial Conduct also commands recusal in this case because the contributions would lead any reasonable person to question Justice O'Donnell's impartiality. Justice O'Donnell certainly has more than a de minimis interest in being "appropriately responsive" to his campaign contributors, and hearing a case involving his largest campaign contributor creates the appearance that Cincinnati Insurance Co.'s contributions could affect the outcome of the case.

I do not write this letter to criticize or question the integrity of any member of this Court, all of whom I hold in high regard. Nor do I write this letter to question the propriety of judicial elections. I write to call attention to the deliberate actions of Cincinnati Insurance Co., which are clearly intended to influence elections and the outcome of legal matters in Ohio. It is impossible for a litigant to have faith in the judiciary, and to receive due process of law, when his opponent has had such a large role in the election of the justices who will decide the outcome of his case.

For these reasons, I respectfully request that Justice Terrence O'Donnell recuse himself from participation in Case No. 2015-0628, Daniel Stolz v. J&B Steel Erectors, Inc., et al., pursuant to S.Ct.Prac.R. 4.04.

Affidavit of Brett C. Goodson

STATE OF OHIO)

: SS

COUNTY OF HAMILTON)

1. I, Brett C. Goodson, am counsel of record for Respondent Daniel Stolz in Case No. 2015-0628, Daniel Stolz v. J&B Steel Erectors, Inc., et al., pending before the Supreme Court of Ohio as a certified question of Ohio law from the United States District Court for the Southern District of Ohio.

2. To the best of my knowledge, I have never made any campaign contributions to any current members of the Supreme Court of Ohio. My client, Daniel Stolz, has never made any campaign contributions to any current members of the Supreme Court of Ohio.

3. Although not a party to this action, Cincinnati Insurance Co. issued the insurance policies at issue in this case for each of the Petitioners, and stands to receive a substantial windfall if the Court rules in favor of Petitioners.

4. Upon learning that Cincinnati Insurance Co. was a substantial contributor to the campaigns of several members of the Supreme Court of Ohio, I researched campaign contributions from employees of Cincinnati Insurance Co., Cincinnati Financial Corp., John J. & Thomas R. Schiff & Company, Inc., and the Schiff family, all of whom are closely affiliated with Cincinnati Insurance Co. I also researched campaign contributions made by employees of other large property and casualty insurers based in Ohio, including Nationwide and Safe Auto.

5. I conducted my research using an online database maintained by the Ohio Secretary of State. The database contains many searchable categories, including the employer of the donor. I searched donations made by employees of Cincinnati Insurance Co. and related entities, and donations made by the Schiff family, to each member of this Court in the year of each justice's most recent election. I downloaded the search results for each search in Microsoft Excel format and compiled the results into separate spreadsheets for each justice, which are attached. Searches for contributions by Cincinnati Insurance Co. and related persons or entities to Justices Pfeifer and O'Neill returned no results, and therefore no spreadsheet is included for those justices.

6. During her 2014 reelection campaign, Justice Kennedy received at least $51,875.00 from Cincinnati Insurance Co. and related persons and entities. The largest group of contributions came from 124 employees of Cincinnati Insurance Co., totaling $36,425. Justice Kennedy also received $4,850.00 from 3 employees of Cincinnati Financial Corp., $7,000 from 9 employees of John J. & Thomas R. Schiff & Company, Inc., and $3,600 from members of the Schiff family (excluding amounts contributed by family members directly employed by one of the other entities).

These contributions constituted approximately 5.57% of all contributions she received.

7. During her 2014 reelection campaign, Justice French received at least $53,500.00 from Cincinnati Insurance Co. and related persons and entities. Justice French received $22,050.00 from 85 employees of Cincinnati Insurance Co., $20,400.00 from 109 employees of Cincinnati Financial Corp., and $11,050.00 from 12 employees of John J. & Thomas R. Schiff & Company, Inc. These contributions constituted approximately 5.06% of all contributions she received.

8. During his 2012 reelection campaign, Justice O'Donnell received at least $31,613.34 from Cincinnati Insurance Co. and related persons and entities. Justice O'Donnell received $16,074.67 from 52 employees at Cincinnati Financial Corp., $9,258.67 from 35 employees at Cincinnati Insurance Co., and $6,280 from 7 employees at John J. & Thomas R. Schiff & Company, Inc. These contributions constituted approximately 5.67% of all contributions he received.

9. During her 2010 reelection campaign, Justice Lanzinger received at least $46,650.00 from Cincinnati Insurance Co. and related persons and entities. Justice Lanzinger received $20,825.00 from 107 employees of Cincinnati Insurance Co., $16,400.00 from 12 employees of Cincinnati Financial Corp., and $9,425.00 from 15 employees of John J. & Thomas R. Schiff & Company, Inc. These contributions constituted approximately 5.51% of all contributions she received.

10. During her 2010 campaign, Chief Justice O'Connor received at least $46,050.00 from Cincinnati Insurance Co. and related persons and entities. Chief Justice O'Connor received $21,225.00 from 105 employees of Cincinnati Insurance Co., $11,950.00 from 10 employees of Cincinnati Financial Corp., and $12,875.00 from 16 employees of John J. & Thomas R. Schiff & Company, Inc. These contributions constituted approximately 5.12% of all contributions she received.

11. My research led me to conclude that, outside of the Republican Party, Cincinnati Insurance Co. and related persons and entities are collectively the single largest donor to five members of this Court.

12. My research also led me to conclude that 73% of all campaign contributions made by employees of Cincinnati Insurance Co. and related entities in Ohio in 2014 were to two members of this Court, even though there were several other important state-wide elections in 2014, including Governor, Secretary of State, and Attorney General, as well as elections for the Ohio legislature and countless local races. $101,775.00 of the $139,637.99 donated went to Justices Kennedy and French.

13. Hoyle v. DTJ Enterprises, Inc., 2015-Ohio-843, was argued before the Supreme Court of Ohio in June 2014. While the Court was deciding that case, Cincinnati Insurance Co. and related persons and entities donated more than $100,000 to the 2014 reelection campaigns of Justices Kennedy and French. In March 2015, Justice French authored the opinion that ruled in favor of Cincinnati Insurance Co. Justice Kennedy concurred in the syllabus and judgment only.

14. Rule 2.11 of Ohio's Code of Judicial Conduct provides: "A judge shall disqualify himself or herself in any proceeding in which the judge's impartiality might reasonably be questioned . . . ." (Emphasis original).

15. Members of the public, other litigants, other attorneys, and, most importantly, Daniel Stolz, can never be assured that they are receiving a fair hearing before this Court when a massive campaign contributor has such a substantial interest in an adverse outcome.

16. I do not write this letter to criticize or question the integrity of any member of this Court, all of whom I hold in high regard. Nor do I write this letter to question the propriety of judicial elections.

17. For these reasons, I respectfully request that Chief Justice Maureen O'Connor, Justice Terrence O'Donnell, Justice Judith Ann Lanzinger, Justice Sharon Kennedy, and Justice Judith French recuse themselves from participation in Case No. 2015-0628, Daniel Stolz v. J&B Steel Erectors, Inc., et al., pursuant to S.Ct.Prac.R. 4.04.
