NEWS

NEW CODE OF JUDICIAL CONDUCT PROVIDES GUIDANCE TO JUDGES OPERATING SPECIALIZED DOCKETS

On December 30, the Supreme Court of Ohio announced the adoption of a new Code of Judicial Conduct, which becomes effective March 1, 2009. The Code regulates the judicial and extrajudicial activities of judges and is based on the substantive revisions to the American Bar Association's Model Code of Judicial Conduct that were adopted in February 2007 by the ABA's House of Delegates. For the first time, the Code includes definitions for "specialized docket" and "ex parte communication." And, a newly adopted rule and comment on Ex Parte Communication, Rule 2.9 and Comment 4A, provides an exception to the prohibition on ex parte communication in instances where a judge is administering a specialized docket. It also clarifies that judges operating a specialized docket clearly may have a more interactive role with parties, treatment providers, probation officers, social workers and others. The changes to the Code reflect input provided to the Task Force on the Code of Judicial Conduct by judges who participated in the Ohio Specialized Docket Practitioner Network coordinated by the Specialized Docket Section of the Supreme Court of Ohio.

11 STATES NOW HAVE MENTAL HEALTH PROGRAMS MODELED ON OHIO'S

Four more states have joined a national initiative on mental illness and the courts modeled on Ohio's program started by Supreme Court of Ohio Justice Evelyn Lundberg Stratton. The four states were introduced at a two-day policy forum in Philadelphia this week that Justice Stratton attended with chief justices and other judicial leaders from around the country. ## STRICKLAND SET TO SIGN HUMAN TRAFFICKING BILL

Crimes such as kidnapping that aid human trafficking would be punished more severely under a bill Gov. Ted Strickland is expected to sign this week. The bill would create a new "human trafficking" specification that prosecutors could attach to related crimes to increase prison sentences - just as penalties are more severe if a crime involves a firearm. ## BREAKING THE CYCLE OF PROSTITUTION

Ashley's wide eyes and soft voice belie the hard life she led as a prostitute. After running away from her Hilliard home this year, she was forced to sell her body to support the drug habit of a man who had seen her on the streets, alone and unprotected, she said. During her few months as a sex worker, Ashley said she fled the moving car of a customer who tried to kidnap her. Eventually, she smoked crack cocaine to cope. More...

INEVITABILITY by Judge Joyce Campbell

With permission from Judge Joyce Campbell of the Fairfield Municipal Court, we are sharing the following speech that was presented at a local NAMI event:

INEVITABILITY

I want to thank you for the privilege of speaking with you this evening- it is rare I get to speak without a bailiff with a gun standing next to me to make sure people are in attendance. I had planned on speaking about the current state of mental health courts throughout the United States and in particular Fairfield, Ohio but I decided I needed to speak with you about inevitability. Let me explain. Last Tuesday I was sitting in my chambers – judge talk for office – just having returned from a trip to the National Institute of Health in Bethesda Maryland. As part of a federal grant to teach judges about scientific matters I had just spent four days meeting with and learning from the leaders in the scientific community about recent breakthroughs in mental health and addiction research. I was rejuvenated and excited that great strides are being made decoding genetic links to mental health and new treatment modalities are being developed. I had renewed hope that someday no one would have to suffer the despair and loneliness of mental illness. As I was going through the days docket my court administrator came into my chambers and with great difficulty told me that a young man that I love like my own son had just committed suicide that morning.

The grief over the loss of this handsome, witty, charming, well educated 25 year old young man seems to have no end. This very special young man struggled with demons I will never understand and despite medications, therapy, a loving family, many friends and deep religious convictions he felt that suicide was the only way for him to find peace. We spoke often about his therapy and medications and I read every article I could find in an effort to be informed and helpful. We last heard from him by email the night before his death. There was nothing to indicate that suicide was an option being contemplated or planned. To the contrary, the adjustment of his medications seemed to be working. He was looking forward to purchasing a home, obtaining his MBA, contemplating a job change and was making plans with my 13 year old son for Christmas break. How wrong I was. Despite all my efforts with the Fairfield Mental Health Court to help the hundreds of defendants struggling with mental illness in the criminal justice system, despite all my education and research I was unable to save someone I love with all my heart.

My reason for sharing my private pain with you is because of something someone close to this young man said to me at his visitation. She said that his untimely death by suicide was inevitable. I was outraged, angry and defiant at this word. I refuse to accept that suicide is inevitable for those suffering from severe mental illness. Great strides have been made and continue to be made in medications, genetics and therapy techniques. There is help and there is hope. I never want anyone to suffer the loss of a loved one due to mental illness. I want it to be inevitable that treatment will work and people will regain control of their lives and vanquish the demons. I want it to be inevitable that we obtain health insurance parity. I want it to be inevitable that we fund ongoing research. I want it to be inevitable that society accept mental illness the same as any other ongoing chronic disease. I want it to be inevitable that children are screened at a young age so that issues can be addressed early. I want it to be inevitable that each of us reach out to those who suffer and be a little kinder, a little more patient and a little more loving. I want it to be inevitable that no one will ever have to cause those who love them such grief and pain in order to find peace.

I leave you with the words of the poet Emily Dickinson –

*If I can stop one heart from breaking
I shall not live in vain;
If I can ease one life the aching,
Or cool one pain,
Or help one fainting robin
Unto his nest again,
I shall not live in vain.*

Thank you and god bless you.

EVALUATION OF A DEMONSTRATION PROGRAM: DRUG TESTING, CERTAIN AND SWIFT SANCTIONS, AND TREATMENT REFERRAL FOR CHRONIC DRUG USERS UNDER COMMUNITY SUPERVISION

Deadline: February 04, 2009

Website: <http://www07.grants.gov/search/search.do?&mode=VIEW&flag2006=false&oppId=43321>

The National Institute of Justice (NIJ) is the research, development, and evaluation agency of the U.S. Department of Justice (DOJ) and a component of the Office of Justice Programs (OJP). NIJ provides objective, independent, evidence-based knowledge and tools to enhance the administration of justice and public safety. NIJ solicits applications to inform its search for the knowledge and tools to guide policy and practice. NIJ is seeking proposals for research to evaluate the effectiveness of a demonstration program that includes a drug-testing, sanctions, and treatment protocol for chronic drug users under criminal justice supervision in the community. The basic principles of the program must include: (1) frequent drug testing; (2) certain, swift, and proportionate sanctions for failed tests; and (3) access to residential treatment, as appropriate. The purpose of this research is to inform and improve criminal justice and public health policy and practice and to reduce recidivism among chronic drug offenders on pretrial status, probation, or parole.

FREE IN-SERVICE TRAINING FOR ELEMENTARY SCHOOL PROFESSIONALS OFFERED BY THE OHIO DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION

The requirements for elementary professional staff members to take in-service child abuse detection training in Ohio was recently expanded by legislation, HB 276. In addition to child abuse detection, the four hours of in-service training now required must also cover the prevention of violence and substance abuse and the promotion of positive youth development.

All elementary school professionals are required to fulfill the expanded in-service training requirements by March 30, 2009, and every five years thereafter. New employees must complete the training within two years of commencing employment, and every five years thereafter.

To help educators meet the new requirements, the Ohio Department of Education (ODE) worked collaboratively with a host of organizations and interested parties to develop a Safety and Violence Prevention Curriculum. The Department is presenting a series of FREE train-the trainer sessions statewide to assist districts in conducting local programs. A list of upcoming training sessions, information on cost reimbursement and the curriculum itself appear on the ODE website at www.ode.state.oh.us (keyword: safety and violence prevention training). While designed as train-the trainer sessions, ODE invites all elementary through high school staff members to attend such training. Districts interested in scheduling an onsite training program for a fee may contact the Ohio Mental Network for School Success by going to www.units.muohio.edu/csbmhp/network/svpc.html.

Upcoming training dates include: (check website for updates)

- Jan. 13, Clark County Educational Service Center, Springfield
- Jan. 20, Summit County Educational Service Center, Cuyahoga Falls
- Jan. 21, Northpoint Educational Service Center, Sandusky
