

Toledo Blade's requested forensic computer searches have potential widespread, detrimental effects on public offices that require further review.

Through oral argument, this Court may also consider the Commissioners' recent public resolution enacted on October 25, 2007, which has stayed their decision on the courthouse so that no "irreparable" action will take place before March 17, 2008 (attached hereto as Exhibit A). Potential state funding opportunities have come forth so that the Commissioners will continue to explore all available options and have declined to proceed with demolition until at least after March 17, 2008.

For this and all these reasons, this Court should set oral argument in this matter.
