vs.	:	Original Action

AFFIDAVIT OF RAYMOND E. DIROSSI

I, Raymond E. DiRossi, having been first duly sworn state as follows:

1. I am over the age of eighteen and am competent to testify to the facts in this affidavit which are based upon my personal knowledge.

2. From August 4, 2011 to September 30, 2011, I served as a Joint Secretary to the Ohio Apportionment Board along with Heather Mann.

3. Since January 2009, I have been the President and sole owner of Capital Advantage, LLC. Capital Advantage, LLC provides professional consulting and fundraising services.

4. From January 3, 2005 through December 31, 2008, I was the Finance and Budget Director for then Ohio Representative Jon Husted. Before this position, I worked for 13 years in the Ohio Senate starting in 1991.

5. In 1998, I was designated by the Ohio Senate as the point person on redistricting and reapportionment. I attended 7 or 8 National Conference of State Legislators' meetings on apportionment. I also attended all meetings of The Legislative Task Force on Redistricting, Reapportionment, and Demographic Research (“Legislative Task Force”), and was trained on the GIS software, Autobound. I was also designated as the person to coordinate with Cleveland State University, the state’s data consultants, in all matters relating to the upcoming 2001 reapportionment and redistricting.

6. In 2001, I acted as the chief assistant to the Secretary of the Ohio Apportionment Board. In that role, I coordinated all meetings and agendas for the full apportionment board as well as all 10 of the regional hearings that the board held to solicit public input and feedback. I also directly assisted in the formulation of the redistricting and reapportionment plans.

7. Prior to my appointment as a Joint Secretary to the Ohio Apportionment Board in 2011, I had approached Speaker Batchelder and Senate President Niehaus about wanting to be involved with the redistricting and reapportionment process because of my prior involvement with the 2001 plans.

8. Both the Joint Republican and Joint Democratic Caucuses each received an equal amount of funding from the Legislative Task Force to be used for reapportionment and redistricting efforts in 2011. All receipts and invoices for these expenditures are matters of public record.

9. On July 7-8, 2011, I received training from John Morgan, a consultant hired by our attorney, Mark Braden, on the GIS software, Maptitude. This software was used to develop the 2011 redistricting and reapportionment plans.

10. On July 15, 2011, with technical advice and assistance from the IT Director of the Senate, computer equipment was purchased using funds allocated to the Joint Republican Caucuses by the Legislative Task Force for use in the reapportionment process.

11. On July 17, 2011, using the same allocation of funds from the Legislative Task Force, a hotel room at the Doubletree Hotel in downtown Columbus was leased as an office space for redistricting and reapportionment. A true and accurate copy of the invoice for the lease of the Doubletree hotel room is attached as Exhibit 1.

12. A room at the Doubletree hotel in downtown Columbus was also used as an office for redistricting and reapportionment in 2001.

13. Beginning in mid-July, 2011, I, along with Heather Mann, sought to coordinate weekly meetings with the staff of the leaders of the Ohio House of Representatives and the Ohio Senate, the Governor's office, and eventually the Auditor, to discuss both Congressional redistricting and the reapportionment plan, though Auditor Yost or his staff never participated in any Congressional redistricting related meetings. Ultimately, due to scheduling conflicts and the fact that they were no longer needed, the vast majority of those weekly meetings were cancelled and never held. In fact, those weekly meetings occurred no more than 3 times from July through October, 2011.

14. On August 1, 2011, a contract was executed between the Republican members of the Legislative Task Force and Capital Advantage, LLC to consult on the preparation and formulation of a plan for the next apportionment of the Ohio

General Assembly. A true and accurate copy of that agreement is attached as Exhibit 2.

15. On August 4, 2011, the Ohio Apportionment Board held its organizational meeting where Heather Mann and I were appointed as the Joint Secretaries to the Ohio Apportionment Board.

16. As a Joint Secretary, many of my initial responsibilities were administrative in nature including organizing and preparing for the reapportionment process, as well as the planning and organizing of the regional public hearings on reapportionment to be held throughout the state of Ohio. Additionally, the drafting and modernizing of the proposed rules for the Ohio Apportionment Board, and maintaining the official records of Ohio Apportionment Board activities were time consuming activities.

17. Additionally, much effort at the outset was taken to correct problems with the integration of census data, the geography of Ohio's governmental units as being shown by the Maptitude software and integrating past election results into the Maptitude software being used to draft the reapportionment plan.

18. From August 22, 2011 through August 26, 2011, the Ohio Apportionment Board held 11 regional hearings around the state to hear public testimony.

19. September 23, 2011 was the deadline for the submission of any reapportionment plans to the Ohio Apportionment Board. Under the rules adopted by the Ohio Apportionment Board on August 4, 2011, and under my duties as a Joint Secretary of the Ohio Apportionment Board, I, along with Heather Mann, immediately distributed copies of the submitted plans to designated agents for each of the five members of the Ohio Apportionment Board.

20. One of the plans submitted to the Ohio Apportionment Board on September 23, 2011 was the apportionment plan prepared by Heather Mann and myself.

21. There were three other plans submitted to the Ohio Apportionment Board on or before September 23, 2011. Two of the plans were from the “winners” of the “Draw the Line Ohio” contest put on by the Ohio Campaign for Accountable Redistricting. The other was submitted by the Joint Democratic Caucuses.

22. On September 26, 2011, the Ohio Apportionment Board heard testimony on all four of the submitted plans.

23. On September 28, 2011, the Ohio Apportionment Board considered amendments on the apportionment plan I submitted with Heather Mann. Due to suggestions and considerable discussion with House Minority Leader Armond Budish during that meeting, one of the amendments was amended and adopted. The Ohio Apportionment Board voted 4-1 to adopt the amended plan drafted by Heather Mann and myself.

24. The Ohio Apportionment Board held an emergency meeting on September 30, 2011 to consider an amendment to the plan dealing with two Senate districts in Cuyahoga and Lake Counties. This amendment was a specific request of Democratic Representative Sandra Williams, who also serves as the Chairwoman of the Ohio Legislative Black Caucus. The Ohio Apportionment Board adopted this amendment and subsequently adopted the amended apportionment plan on September 30, 2011 on a 4-0 vote. A true and accurate copy of An Ohio Apportionment Plan For 2012-2022 (the "2012-2022 Ohio Apportionment Plan") as amended and engrossed by the Ohio Apportionment Board on September 30, 2011 is attached as Exhibit 3.

25. The 2012-2022 Ohio Apportionment Plan was not developed in secret. To my knowledge, there were no meetings by the Ohio Apportionment Board that were not open to the public. On the contrary, there were 4 public meetings of the Ohio Apportionment Board and 11 regional hearings where the public could and did submit testimony. And, suggestions made at these hearings were incorporated into the enacted reapportionment plan, including (1) requests to keep Columbiana and Allen Counties whole and in single house districts, (2) requests to keep whole or minimize splits of political subdivisions such as Kettering, and (3) requests from the Ohio NAACP to protect and maintain the number of African-American seats in the legislature. Later in the process, the Ohio Commission on Hispanic and Latino Affairs asked that special consideration be given to the Hispanic community in Lorain and Cuyahoga Counties. Heather and I did our best to address this specific request in the apportionment plan we proposed.

26. Additionally, although agenda scripts were provided to staff members of the Republican members of the Ohio Apportionment Board prior to the public meetings, the Ohio Apportionment Board members did deviate from the agenda scripts on multiple occasions. This included small deviations dealing with process or order of the agenda, but also included significant deviations including a Republican member of the Ohio Apportionment Board voting with Minority Leader Budish on a proposed amendment to the rules, which I opposed at the August 4, 2011 Ohio Apportionment Board meeting.

27. Occasionally, though not often, individual members of the Ohio Apportionment Board, or their staff, would come to the Doubletree Hotel office to monitor the progress of the draft of reapportionment and Congressional redistricting plans.

28. On only one occasion were two members of the Ohio Apportionment Board together with me at the Doubletree hotel at the same time. But, to my recollection, they were only there in passing as one member was arriving and the other was leaving, and I witnessed no discussions between the two members about the specifics of the apportionment plan. At no other time when I was present was more than one member of the Ohio Apportionment Board present at the Doubletree hotel office at the same time.

29. House Minority Leader Armond Budish never requested to review the progress of the reapportionment plan being prepared by Heather Mann and myself.

30. I was never provided any information related to the reapportionment plan drafted by the Joint Democratic Caucuses until their plan was officially submitted to the Ohio Apportionment Board on September 23, 2011. Nor was I ever invited to any meetings related to the Joint Democratic Caucuses' preparation of their reapportionment plan.

31. The 2012-2022 Ohio Apportionment Plan was drafted in compliance with Article XI of the Ohio Constitution, as well as all applicable provisions of the United States Constitution, the Federal Voting Rights Act, and applicable case law.

32. The process of reapportionment begins by taking the total population of the state of Ohio and dividing it by 99, which yields the target population of a house district. Ohio Constitution, Article XI, Section 2.

33. Then counties that are within 95% to 105% of the target population must be identified and designated as a single house district. Ohio Constitution, Article XI, Section 10(A). The only county that met this requirement under the 2010 census data was Wayne County and it is House District 1.

34. After that, any county that is between 90% and 95%, or 105% and 110% of the target population may be designated as a single house district. Ohio Constitution, Article XI, Section 10(B). Under the 2010 census data, there were four counties that met this requirement, Richland, Wood, Allen, and Columbiana Counties, which are House Districts 2-5, respectively.

35. Then, proceeding in ordered succession from the most populous county to the least populous county, each remaining county containing more than the target population must be divided into a certain number of house districts. Any remaining territory within one of these counties must be combined with adjoining territory in another county or counties to form a single house district. Ohio

Constitution, Article XI, Section 10(C). The remaining territory of the state shall be combined into House of Representative districts. Article XI, Section 10(D).

36. To understand why Relators' claims are incorrect, one must first understand the geography of the state. In many of Ohio's rural areas, the co-existence of townships, cities and villages has not altered the traditional checkerboard-like design of Ohio's geographical boundaries. In many of Ohio's expanding urban areas (and a growing number of rural areas) these traditional political subdivision squares of the state are being changed significantly by annexation.

37. Consider the contrast between Cuyahoga and Franklin counties. In Cuyahoga County, there are approximately 57 distinct townships, cities or villages and every single one has a pristine definable border that is comprised of a single continuous line. More importantly, every precinct in those 57 governmental units is contiguous to the rest of that specific governmental unit. Cuyahoga County is the state's most populous county, but none of its 11 house districts are challenged by Relators.

38. By contrast, annexation has run wild in Franklin County where there are now more than 325 non-contiguous pieces of approximately 55 distinct townships, cities, and villages. In an extreme case, Perry Township in Franklin County just by itself is in 34 distinct non-contiguous pieces. In many cases, these little pieces of land are wholly circumscribed by other governmental units and the act of trying to reunite a non-contiguous jurisdiction would lead to dividing several other governmental units. In Franklin County, Relators have challenged 8 of the 10 house districts.

39. These changes in Ohio's geography are not new, but have slowly been exacerbating themselves since the dawn of Ohio's annexation laws. The basis for the majority of Relators' claims is that these non-contiguous pieces need to be reassembled, and, if that action does not occur, Article XI has been violated. The Ohio Apportionment Board, however, is not responsible for the "splitting" of these governmental units – those decisions were made by local elected officials over decades of annexations. Further, the Ohio Apportionment Board is required to adopt a plan based on the geography that exists in the state at the time of the census. See Ohio Constitution, Article XI, Section 6.

40. The constitutional protections that limit the dividing of governmental units are diminished when the jurisdictions themselves cause their communities to be divided. The 2001 and previous Ohio Apportionment Boards, however, granted the contiguous portions of a non-contiguous governmental unit the constitutional protections of Article XI. That is, if a contiguous portion of a non-contiguous governmental unit is divided, it is considered to be divided by the Ohio Apportionment Board under Article XI of the Ohio Constitution. The same principle was used in preparing the 2012-2022 Ohio Apportionment Plan.

41. The approach of the 2012-2022 Ohio Apportionment Plan prepared by Heather and me, that reassembling non-contiguous pieces is not a constitutional requirement, is consistent with the approach of the previous Ohio Apportionment Boards. In 2001, the Ohio Apportionment Board adopted a map in which 34 house districts had non-contiguous portions of governmental units that were not counted as “splits.” The 2001 map was heavily litigated and ultimately upheld, but this specific issue was never even raised in that, or any other litigation. And, counsel for the plaintiffs’ in the 2001 litigation is also counsel for Relators in this case. In 1991, the Ohio Apportionment Board adopted a map in which 25 house districts had the same non-contiguous portions of governmental units that were not counted as “splits.” In 1981, there were 16 similar house districts. See “Historical Precedent” for a detailed listing of each of these districts attached as Exhibit 4. I have also confirmed the existence of this approach in the 1971 Ohio Apportionment Plan. True and accurate copies of the 1971, 1981, 1991, and 2001 Ohio Apportionment plans are attached as Exhibits 5 to 8, respectively.

42. This means that this issue has confronted every single apportionment board since the current version of Article XI of the Ohio Constitution was adopted in 1967. These previous apportionment boards have had both Republican and Democratic majorities and they all took the same approach as the 2011 Ohio Apportionment Board.

43. Further, in the “User Notes on Plan Geography” section of the 2012-2022 Ohio Apportionment Plan, the 2011 Ohio Apportionment Board proactively noted that “many of the higher levels of geography, notably municipalities, wards, and precincts, contain multiple pieces of territory that are separated by distances short and long.” These “non-contiguous areas” are “non-contiguous because . . . they are legally or technically a portion of a geographic unit but surrounded by other land-based geographic units.”

44. The 2012-2022 Ohio Apportionment Plan contains a number of house and senate districts constructed in careful accordance with the Federal Voting Rights Act dealing with minority community concerns. If Relators’ claims are granted, the delicate balance of creating these districts while simultaneously adhering to constitutional population and geographical restrictions will (1) result in fewer majority-minority districts (a district with a non-Hispanic African-American voting age population greater than 50%) being drawn, (2) jeopardize Ohio’s compliance with the Federal Voting Rights Act, and (3) diminish minority communities’ ability to elect their candidates of choice. For example: In Hamilton County where 3 house districts are being challenged, the Ohio Apportionment Board was able to construct two majority-minority house districts barely reaching 50+ percent while adhering to all of Article XI’s provisions. The two majority-minority house districts are 50.46 percent and 50.43 percent, respectively. Using the criteria Relators’ suggest, this would likely not be feasible if the non-contiguous jurisdictions had to be re-assembled.

45. Columbus cannot be contained in one whole House District; due to its size, it has to be in at least seven house districts. Due to the fact that it wholly circumscribes other governmental units like Whitehall and Bexley, and other non-contiguous portions of several other governmental units – at least 8-10 house districts are needed at a mathematical minimum. Thus, under Relators’ new interpretation of Article XI, you cannot feasibly divide Columbus without also “splitting” these non-contiguous pieces imbedded inside Columbus into different districts. Again, Franklin County is home to two majority-minority house districts that exist in compliance with the federal Voting Rights Act. The Relators’ claims would substantially upset these desirable and federally required outcomes.

46. Another example of how piecing back together the non-contiguous governmental units could cause additional problems can be found in The Fortner Map, one of the two “winning” maps from the Ohio Campaign on Accountable Redistricting “Draw The Line Ohio” competition. Michael McDonald, whose affidavit was filed in support of the Complaint, served as a consultant for the “Draw The Line Ohio” competition. The Fortner map was the only map submitted to the Ohio Apportionment Board that managed to keep all but one (Perry Township) of the Franklin County governmental units with non-contiguous pieces in the same house districts. A true and accurate copy of the apportionment of Franklin County under the Fortner plan is attached as Exhibit 9. However, in keeping all the non-contiguous portions in the same house district, nine house districts in Franklin County in this map purposely split numerous contiguous Columbus City wards in direct violation of Article XI, Section 7(C)¹. Another consequence to reuniting non-contiguous portions of these governmental units was that only one of the house districts in Franklin County, House District 18, would now be a majority-minority district. The 2012-2022 Ohio Apportionment Plan has two majority-minority districts in Franklin County.

47. Overall, only 15 total governmental units were divided by the 2012-2022 Ohio Apportionment Plan: the City of Columbus, the City of Cincinnati, the City of Cleveland, the City of Akron, the City of Cuyahoga Falls, the City of Massillon, the City of Dayton, the City of Toledo, Plain Township, the City of North Ridgeville, Austintown Township, the City of Middletown, the City of Mentor, the City of Brunswick, and the City of Marietta.

48. Also, although Article XI, Section 7(C) indicates that where a division of a governmental unit is necessary it should follow the hierarchy of giving preference to townships, then city wards, then cities, and then villages, it is not always possible to divide a township before a city. For example, cities such as Columbus, Cincinnati, Toledo and Dayton are much larger than the target population of a single house district, and must be divided into multiple house districts in order to comply with population requirements. But, once such cities are split, a township cannot also be split or it would violate Section 7(C)'s requirement of only dividing one governmental unit between two districts. Also, governmental units must sometimes be divided to meet population requirements. But, in some cases, townships do not have the adequate population to satisfy the population requirement, and a city must be divided because cities most often have larger populations.

49. Additionally, Article XI, Section 7(A)'s requirement that "the boundary lines of districts shall be drawn so as to delineate an area containing one or more whole counties" cannot be analyzed in a vacuum. Rather, it must be analyzed in conjunction with the need to divide counties statewide in order to maintain population equality as required by Article XI. It would be ideal if the population of Ohio's counties were such that they could evenly be divided, without breaking county boundaries, to create Ohio's 99 house districts. Unfortunately, such is not the case, and certain counties must be split in order to make up the remainder of Ohio's districts. But, every single house district challenged by Relators as violating Section 7(A) contains one or more whole counties in compliance with Article XI, Section 7(A) except for those counties that are specifically divided in compliance with Article XI, Section 10(C) because their population dictates formation of multiple house districts.

50. Also, under Article XI, Section 10(D), the counties with less than one ratio of representation must be combined into representative districts. And, occasionally counties must be split to meet population requirements. Many of the districts in northwest Ohio are population light because of the special limitations under Article XI on how counties containing more than one whole house ratio of representation may be combined into house districts. For example, because under Article XI, Section 10(B), counties between 90% and 110% of the target population may be made into single county house districts, Allen County was made into a single house district though it fell below the Article XI, Section 3 range of 95% to 105%. This left more population available to draw house districts in southeast Ohio, and therefore many of these districts needed to be drawn and constructed heavy in population, or the apportionment plan would end up with more than the permitted 99 house districts. Thus, some counties in southeast Ohio were “split” to meet population requirements.

51. Finally, the 2012-2022 Apportionment Plan attempts, where feasible, to keep district boundaries similar to the 2001 plan, while at the same time complying with population requirements, the other requirements of Article XI of the Ohio Constitution, and the requirements of the Voting Rights Act. But, at least 60 of the 99 house districts from the 2001 apportionment plan have either grown or shrunk to an extent that they were no longer within the Ohio Constitution’s allowable five percent population deviation, and under Article XI, Section 3, their boundaries had to be adjusted.

52. The Ohio Apportionment Board has historically been granted significant leeway in interpreting competing and at times specifically conflicting provisions embodied in Article XI of the Ohio Constitution. Specifically, in Voinovich v. Ferguson, 63 Ohio St.3d 198, 586 N.E.2d 1020 (1992), the Ohio

Supreme Court highlighted the fact that the Ohio Apportionment Board has a right and a duty to resolve conflicts between the provisions of Article XI to the extent they are in competition. The 2011 Ohio Apportionment Board properly balanced these provisions when they were in competition.

WHEREAS, the Republican members of the Task Force desire to retain the services of Capital Advantage to aid them in carrying out their duties under RC 103.51(D) including but not limited to, the preparation and formulation of a plan for the next apportionment of the Ohio General Assembly, and a plan for the establishment of districts for election of representatives to the United States Congress, and Capital Advantage agrees to render such services to the Republican Members of the Task Force, on the terms and conditions set forth herein.

The Task Force and Capital Advantage mutually agree as follows:

1. Consulting Services. During the term of this agreement, Capital Advantage shall make available Raymond E. DiRossi to render such consulting services as may be needed or requested by the Republican Members of the Task Force to carry out their duties under R.C. 103.51.
2. Term. The term of this agreement will commence on August 1, 2011, and shall expire on December 31, 2011, unless terminated in accordance with the provisions of Section 8 of this agreement or extended by the Task Force by agreement with Capital Advantage.
3. Consulting Payments. In consideration of the services to be performed by Capital Advantage pursuant to this agreement, The Task Force agrees to pay Capital Advantage the total sum of seventy-five thousand dollars ($75,000.00) payable as follows forty thousand dollars ($40,000) on August 22, 2011, and thirty-five thousand dollars ($35,000) payable on October 17, 2011. Further, should litigation be commenced challenging the redistricting plan passed by the General Assembly, the reapportionment plan adopted by the Apportionment Board, or any similar litigation pertaining to the duties in this contract, Capital Advantage shall be paid an additional thirty thousand dollars ($30,000).
4. Expense Reimbursement. During the term of this agreement, Capital Advantage shall be entitled to reimbursement of all reasonable and necessary travel and lodging expenses incurred by Capital Advantage in connection with Capital Advantage's performance of the consulting expenses hereunder, provided that Capital Advantage submits to the Task Force invoices or other documentary verifications of such expenses. The determination of whether any such expenses submitted by Capital Advantage are reasonable and necessary shall be within the sole discretion of the Task Force; provided, however, that the Task Force shall not deny reimbursing Capital Advantage for any properly verified expenses that the Task Force approved in advance of such reimbursement. The Task Force shall provide parking access to Capital Advantage, the use of which shall be limited to the purpose of benefiting the Task Force in the performance of statutory duties.

5. Other contractual obligations. Commencing on August 1, 2011, and continuing through October 31, 2011, Capital Advantage shall not engage or hold any other contracts for consulting services related to the General Assembly in the state of Ohio.
6. Independent Contractor. The Task Force and Capital Advantage expressly acknowledge and agree that the consulting services to be provided by Capital Advantage under this agreement shall be performed as an independent contractor and not as an agent or employee to the Task Force or the Republican Members of the Task Force. Further, Capital Advantage agrees that it has no right to bind the Task Force, or the Republican Members, to any legal commitments to third parties.
7. Indemnification. The Task Force shall indemnify and hold harmless Capital Advantage including Raymond E. DiRossi, against any and all liability insofar as such liability arises out of or is based upon any plan for apportionment of the Ohio General Assembly or the establishment of districts for election of representatives to the United States Congress, or the formulation or creation of any such plan or for any such matter that the Republican Members of the Task Force use the services of Capital Advantage. For this purpose, liability shall mean any: (i) judgments, damages, costs, charges, expenses, or other liabilities imposed by any court, administrative agency, or other governmental authority in any executive, legislative, judicial, regulatory, or administrative action, suit, or other proceeding, including any appeals, (ii) costs, charges, and expenses (including, but not limited to, attorneys fees, filing fees, posting of bond, etc.) reasonably incurred in connection of the defense against any such liabilities, in any such action, suit, or other proceeding; and (iii) costs, charges, and expenses (including, but not limited to, attorneys fees) reasonably incurred in connection with investigation or defense of any claim made or threatened (whether or not made or resulting in any action, suit, or other proceeding.) The indemnification from liability as discussed in this section shall continue in full beyond the end of this Agreement on December 31, 2011.
8. Termination. The engagement of Capital Advantage by the Task Force under this agreement shall terminate automatically upon and in the event of death, disability, termination or employment, or other removal or separation of Raymond E. User Notes on Plan Geography

Part A. General Overview

1. To assist users in their review of the legislative district plan, the plan geography is being provided in different formats. These include a geographic data file known as a shape file and a tabular data file known as an assignment file. The geographic file includes the boundaries for each district. The tabular data file includes one record for the lowest level of geography used to create the plan and the district to which it is assigned.
2. Users with Geographic Information Systems (GIS) software may note a handful of instances in which the appearance of the geography assigned to each district may not match the legal boundaries. Notes follow on these instances below.
3. As a general caveat, whatever the geographic representation might appear to be when the legislative plan is viewed via any software, the controlling document as to the status of any geography is the legal definitions as submitted by the Joint Secretaries to the Ohio Apportionment Board. Those definitions can be found in this document.
4. Any geographic area of the state not specifically named in this legal definition for House and Senate Districts that is wholly contained within the boundaries of a district but not contiguous to any district boundary, is assigned to that district. Any geographic area of the state not specifically named in this legal definition that is contiguous to any district boundary is assigned to that district with which it has the longest continuous boundary. If two or more boundaries are of equal length, the area is assigned to the district with less population. All districts are contiguous including those that are contiguous only by bodies of water.
5. The legal definition will be posted at the following website designated by the Ohio Apportionment Board: <http://www.reshapeohio.org>.

Part B. Geographic Database

The underlying geographic database used to create plans for legislative districts was developed by the Urban Center at Cleveland State University (CSU) in conjunction with the Voinovich Center at Ohio University (OU) as part of the project to develop the 2010 Ohio Common and Unified Redistricting Database (OCURD). CSU was selected by bipartisan action by the co-chairs of the Ohio Legislative Task Force on Redistricting, Reapportionment and Demographic Research. The lowest level of geography in this database is not the census block but the split census block.

1. The overall purpose of the project was to accommodate for the fact that many census blocks contain portions of multiple higher levels of geography, such as a precinct or a municipality. In geographic terms, these are known as 'split' units because they did not nest into the higher levels of geography. The project also enabled the creation of geographic layers for wards (which were not part of the census geographic products) and precincts that more closely reflect the boundaries used in the 2008 and 2010 elections.
2. To create a geographic system that allowed for topological integrity, the OCURD project used the boundaries of the higher levels of geography as overlays and assigned the underlying census block, or portions thereof, to each of the higher levels. When the higher level geography crossed the census block, a new geographic unit was created known as a split block. It is this 'block split' layer of geography that was the lowest level of geography from which the legislative districts were created.
3. Another goal of the OCURD project was to estimate the population in each portion of the split blocks. The project researched several means by which this could be accomplished and chose a method based upon the length of the streets in each such block. Because the population was estimated for each portion, the number of persons was not rounded to a whole person and thus some fractional numbers will be found.

FINAL OHIO APPORTIONMENT PLAN
AS AMENDED, ADOPTED AND ENGROSSED ON SEPTEMBER 30, 2011

4. Another issue arose as the OCURD database was being used by the Joint Secretaries of the Ohio Apportionment Board to create legislative plans. This issue relates to the fact that many of the higher levels of geography, notably municipalities, wards, and precincts, contain multiple pieces of territory that are separated by distances short and long. In geographic terms, these are known as 'non-contiguous areas' (NCA) because there is some other land or water between the pieces. There are two types of NCAs: those that are not contiguous because they are islands surrounded by water and those that are not contiguous because they are legally or technically a portion of a geographic unit but surrounded by other land-based geographic units. Examples of the first type are the islands off the coast of Lake Erie. Examples of the second type abound in the state.
5. In most cases, the multi-part units are combined for geographic representation in GIS software. In geographic terms, these are known as 'shapes' and are assigned to a district as one unit, even though there may be separate estimates of population for the blocks that comprise the higher level unit. Because they are combined as an entire shape they can only be assigned to one district by the GIS software used for the redistricting phase of the apportionment process. The software used by the Board to undertake this process was Maptitude for Redistricting (MTR) by Caliper Corporation.
6. Requirements of the Ohio Constitution relate to both creating districts from contiguous territory and the maintenance of political subdivision boundaries. Therefore, making use of a multi-part area as the boundary of a district could present a situation in which a political subdivision would be split and a district would be created using non-contiguous territory.
7. Whatever the geographic representation of the GIS software, the controlling document as to the status of any geography is the legal definition as adopted by the Apportionment Board.
8. Because some areas in the higher geographic levels are multi-part units the software flagged some districts as being non-contiguous. Notes on these situations follow.

Part C. Notes on Specific Districts:

The following areas include districts that were designated by the Maptitude software as having some non-contiguous areas:

1. District 38—Stark County. Block 391517147013085 is split into two pieces including portions of precincts 151ANY & 151AEB. The portion in 151ANY contains no population and is a part of district 49. See the item 4 in Part A and the legal definition.
2. District 46—Lucas County. Several islands are located off the Lake Erie coast but are portions of Jerusalem Township. See the item 4 in Part A and the legal definition.
3. District 48—Stark County. Block 391517123002009 is split into three pieces including portions of precincts 151ACD, 151AME, and 151ANG. Each of these portions contains no population. The triangular portion at the lower south east of the block is a part of district 49. See the item 4 in Part A and the legal definition.
4. District 55—Lorain County. Several islands are located off the Lake Erie coast but are portions of Avon Lake City. See the item 4 in Part A and the legal definition.
5. District 83—Hardin and Logan Counties. There is one unit in the 'Block Split' layer, 390650007003086091AAR, that is unassigned in the map. It contains no population and is surrounded by district 83. See the item 4 in Part A and the legal description.
6. District 88—Sandusky County. One island is located in Sandusky Bay but is a portion of Riley Township. See the item 4 in Part A and the legal definition.

FINAL OHIO APPORTIONMENT PLAN
AS AMENDED, ADOPTED AND ENGROSSED ON SEPTEMBER 30, 2011

7. District 89—Ottawa County. This district has three components: the portion above Sandusky Bay; the portion below Sandusky Bay; and several islands off the Lake Erie coast. See the item 4 in Part A and the legal definition.

1971 Apportionment Plan – ?? Examples

There are examples – especially in Franklin county, but due to time I have not been able to analyze the legal description of the 1971 Apportionment Board at the level I did for the 2001 through 1981.

But it looks very obvious that House Districts 27, 28, 29 and 33 had these non contiguous township issues.
