I don't have the original quote from what Sam sent over, but license fees are not included in the deposit invoice that we sent out earlier. The proposal should have outlined that each user license runs ~$265.

I will need to know how many licenses we need to purchase today, and I will generate an invoice for you, unless you want us to bill a credit card for immediate payment, in which case I'd need the information.

I have CC'ed Joe in our office, who is in charge of our licensing and I believe has already tried to get in touch with you. Please contact him on his direct line (614-600-3064) or via email with the license info asap so we can get that from filmmaker today.

Jeff,

Joe in my office is going to be coordinating with you today about getting licenses for our install tomorrow.

Tentatively I have it penciled in for 1pm to install, we need to make sure we get the licensing sorted out today though. I will have Joe call the main line to get in touch with you.

Thanks!

Matt,

I can start the process today, it take 2-3 days to have full approval from the merchant processor from the time of application, not sure if that's business days or if it will go over the weekend.

I will need the following documents immediately to start:

- 1) Copy of a voided check that shows routing and bank number.
- 2) Document charter filed with the State of Ohio (IE statement of non-profit, 501c3 document from the state, etc..)
- 3) Something that shows your federal and/or state Tax IDs (EIN)

The sooner we get these the better. I have CC'ed Joe in our office so he can assist in getting the application rolling.

Dear TAXPAYER:

This is in response to your Mar. 25, 2011, request for information regarding your tax-exempt status.

Our records indicate that you were recognized as exempt under section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code in a determination letter issued in JULY 2006.

Our records also indicate that you are not a private foundation within the meaning of section 509(a) of the Code because you are described in section(s) 509(a)(1) and 170(b)(1)(A)(vi).

Donors may deduct contributions to you as provided in section 170 of the Code. Bequests, legacies, devises, transfers, or gifts to you or for your use are deductible for Federal estate and gift tax purposes if they meet the applicable provisions of sections 2055, 2106, and 2522 of the Code.

Please refer to our website www.irs.gov/eo for information regarding filing requirements. Specifically, section 6033(j) of the Code provides that failure to file an annual information return for three consecutive years results in revocation of tax-exempt status as of the filing due date of the third return for organizations required to file. We will publish a list of organizations whose tax-exempt status was revoked under section 6033(j) of the Code on our website beginning in early 2011.

Matt,

We need to get licenses ordered today for our install tomorrow @ School Choice.

I don't have the original quote from what Sam sent over, but license fees are not included in the deposit invoice that we sent out earlier. The proposal should have outlined that each user license runs ~$265.

I will need to know how many licenses we need to purchase today, and I will generate an invoice for you, unless you want us to bill a credit card for immediate payment, in which case I'd need the information.

I have CC'ed Joe in our office, who is in charge of our licensing and I believe has already tried to get in touch with you. Please contact him on his direct line (614-600-3064) or via email with the license info asap so we can get that from filemaker today.

Thanks!

The real issues is likely complaints. If you anticipate any of the people to whom you are sending email will report the email as unsolicited "spam" and register a complaint, then don't use the list or the email address. You can send them an Opt-In message first.

If you think that they want the information and are not at all likely to file a complaint you are OK.

If you import a very large list, several thousand, Mail-Chimp will likely call you to chat about the source of the list.

Sam and Mike,

I have a question with regards to Mail Chimp, and I'm hoping you could provide some clarification. I have been using Mail Chimp to distribute our typical communications pieces to our various contact lists. As I was adding the list of private school contacts that we pulled from ODE's site, I came across this chart. (<http://kb.mailchimp.com/article/can-i-use-my-list-in-mailchimp>) Based on what this chart says, is it correct to assume that I should not be using our Mail Chimp account to distribute an email to all private school contacts because they have not "opted in" to our list?

Any clarification you can provide would be greatly appreciated.

Thank you!

Hope you had a good holiday.

Jason's Blackberry has been retired and we're going to use his existing smart phone for work purposes.

Can please:

1. Remove the ...tmo.blackberry loop that his current SCO email account has.
2. Help us to link his smart phone into either the same loop or a direct connection to the intermedia server?

We're in today, tomorrow, and Thursday. Back on Tuesday, January 3.

Many thanks.

Hi Clay,
Looks like we are planning to add at least two more iPhone/iPad devices to our roster and so that upgrade seems to be a necessary thing.

We would like to book it during the slower time around Christmas/New Year. Let me know some days/times that might work better for you.

We are closed on December 23, 26, and 30. Maybe if you're around that week between Christmas and New Year (Dec 27, 28, or 29) that would be the time, but we can work out anything that might be necessary.

Once we nail down a day, I'll pass along to the staff to archive/reduce to make the job go easier.

Thanks.

I've attached an outline of both the monthly cost and the migration cost. Keep in mind that the bulk of the labor time is spent both exporting everyone's mailboxes from the old server and then importing them to the new server. If users archive older messages, clean out their mailboxes of large attachments, remove unnecessary mail and empty their deleted items ahead of time then the labor time will be reduced.

Security Advisory: Fake DHL Emails Distribute New Trojan Started at 12/07/2011 02:29 PM ET

We have identified a potential threat to your email users in the form of a new spam campaign that masquerades as a shipping notification from DHL. Currently, none of the major anti-virus providers are capable of catching and quarantining this message. As such, this scam has the potential to be successful and can have serious consequences. We have manually updated our virus definitions to stop future incoming messages and are working with our providers to ensure protection against this virus. However, you users may already have messages in their inbox. Therefore, we recommend that you take the following action: • Notify all your email users about this threat • Caution your users not to open any attachments from DHL or any unknown sender • Be aware that this is a rapidly-changing virus. Even if your anti-virus provider lists it as covered, you may still be at risk. More details about this threat are provided in this email. We will update our customers when we feel this is no longer a threat. If you have any questions, please contact Support. Thank you, More information about this threat: The messages have their "From" field spoofed to appear as originating from an DHL email address. The subject is "DHL Tracking Number #####" (where # stands for a random letter or digit) and unlike most spam, the content of these emails is relatively well-spelled. The message, signed by DHL Delivery Services, reads: "Hello! The courier company was not able to deliver your parcel by your address. You may pickup the parcel at our post office personally. The shipping label is attached to this email. Please print this label to get this package at our post office. The attached archives are called DHL_INVOICE23.zip and contain a trojan installer. "The file in the ZIP archive uses a double file extension in the form of DHL_INVOICE_23.xls_____<plenty of underscores>_____.exe," the Avira researchers explain. This naming scheme as well as the file Excel document icon, have the purpose of deceiving the users into believing that they are actually opening a document. The series of underscores pushes the .exe extension out of the view when the archive file is opened in an unpacking program. At the same time the .exe part will not be visible in Windows Explorer either, since file extensions are hidden by default.

This is our first attempt to find a date amenable to all.

Our first choice is Tuesday, December 13.

Our second choice is Friday, December 16.

This will be a half-day, starting in the morning and ending sometime after lunch, here in Columbus but not at the office and probably not Downtown.

For this first attempt, please just let me know Yes or No to your availability for BOTH of these dates, as soon as possible, by responding to this e-mail.

More details to follow.

Got it. Forgive my clumsy language but you are describing it the way I understand it.

I don't think this staffer has the savvy to change the settings on the bb from what we set up for her (as you describe).

Before I suggest that she bring the thing in for me to look at (she's in Akron), I want to investigate the possibility that the .tmo address was somehow used in isolation either by accident or design. But I needed to get it clear how the system worked.

Thanks. I'll be in touch if I need you again but you can delete this from the queue for now.

Messages sent from the Blackberry aren't really circled back to the Exchange account, they just go from the phone directly to the recipient.

If the Blackberries are set up correctly then the BlackBerry's "reply-to" address is set to match their schoio.org email address so that nobody even knows the .tmo address exists other than the phone's owner.

If you were to send an email directly to a .tmo address then it would only appear on the phone, but that would only happen if someone either knew the .tmo address and composed an email directly to it, or if they were replying to a message from a phone who's reply-to address had not been changed from the .tmo address to a schoio address.

Hi Clay,

Just want to double check about the way we've configured our blackberries to sync with/circle back to our Intermedia addresses.

As I understand it:

- Each blackberry user has a .tmo e-mail address that is unique to their handheld device.
- Items sent to the Intermedia e-mail addresses of our blackberry users are forwarded to the .tmo addresses and items sent from the blackberries are circled to the Intermedia addresses.

But what about items that may get sent directly to the .tmo addresses. Will they connect with the Intermedia addresses at any time if they are only sent to the .tmo addresses?

There's a question floating around among one of our less-savvy BB users and I wanted to try and answer properly.

Thanks.

Subject: RE: Question on SCO blackberries

Messages sent from the Blackberry aren't really circled back to the Exchange account, they just go from the phone directly to the recipient.

If the Blackberries are set up correctly then the BlackBerry's "reply-to" address is set to match their scohio.org email address so that nobody even knows the .tmo address exists other than the phone's owner.

If you were to send an email directly to a .tmo address then it would only appear on the phone, but that would only happen if someone either knew the .tmo address and composed an email directly to it, or if they were replying to a message from a phone who's reply-to address had not been changed from the .tmo address to a scohio address.

Hi Clay,

As I understand it:

Dear Amy Bock:

This message is to inform you that your disk space quota has exceeded the limits allowed for your MS Exchange account: 'schoio'. You may wish to either upgrade your account's disk quota or remove unnecessary items from your users' mailbox(es) or public folder(s).

Your current disk space usage is 3315 MB

If you take no action within 5 consecutive days from the date the first was message received, your account disk quota will be automatically adjusted to allow space for your current files, rounding upwards to the next minimum MB increment as specified in your service plan. These charges will be pro-rated and billed to you.

TO CHECK DISK SPACE:

Check disk space utilizations by logging in to HostPilot Control Panel (<https://exchange.intermedia.net>). Navigate to the "MS Exchange Server > Mailboxes > Storage Management" page and check the "Show Individual Mailbox size" option under the "Server Storage Management for Selected Mailboxes" section.

TO ADD DISK SPACE:

Add disk space by logging in to HostPilot Control Panel (<https://exchange.intermedia.net>). Go to "MS Exchange Server > Storage Management" and select the desired additional disk space amount in the drop down menu field next to "Additional Disk Space Purchased". Your total disk space will be increased instantly.

TO DELETE ITEMS:

Delete unnecessary items or messages from your mailboxes or public folders. NOTE: By default, deleting items moves them to the Deleted Items or Trash folder. To actually reduce disk space usage you will need to empty the folder.

PLEASE NOTE:

If no action is taken, your disk quota will be automatically increased and you will incur a charge in your next billing statement.

Thank you, in advance, for complying with your contract agreement. If you have any questions, please feel free to contact us.

Jeff,

I've included a link to purchase the Netopia modem/router. As I stated before, I think it's more likely that there is noise on the line, given the symptom with the FAX machine and the fact that people were working out of the phone closet at the time the issue started. However, given the age of your modem and router you're about due for new hardware anyway. If you'd like to have me purchase this with your payment information instead, or if you changed your mind and would like to have Richard come out and check the wiring please call and let me know.

Subject: RE: Internet access issues

It sounds like you may have line noise on the DSL line. If your FAX machine has a handset, please pick it up and dial one number on the keypad to silence the dialtone. Press the handset to your ear and listen for a moment to see if you hear a crackling sound on the phone line. Try this a few times, as line noise is often intermittent. If your FAX machine doesn't have a phone built into it let me know and I can bring one to you and listen to the line, or you can pick up a phone from our office and try it yourself.

If you do have line noise then fixing it can be a bit tricky. If the phone company is called out to troubleshoot the line and the problem lies past the phone company's demarcation point in the building then it's not the phone company's responsibility and they will send you a very large bill. Our wiring contractor Richard Krimm can come out and check the connections at the phone closet to diagnose where the problem lies, and re-terminate any connections that were knocked loose.

We had a send get interrupted due to "poor line quality".

Nothing has been changed that I know of, except that:

1. They've recently installed a (very expensive) fiber optic system in the building
2. We have new neighbors across the hall who have also been complaining of internet troubles from the moment they moved in.

Our issue has actually been going on for over a week. Finally getting too frustrating to ignore.

Any time you could get someone over to check it out, we would appreciate it.

One question: we have canceled a number of the e-mail addresses on your list:

All should be eliminated from our system and - hopefully - their usage should go away with them and buy us some more space.

Can you check on this?

Subject: FW: SCO e-mails

Jeff,

It looks like Trevor changed his password when he opened his account. Could eRoots find out his current password and send it to us? I would like to be able to access Trevor's account too now that our contract with he and Mitch is over.

Here are the new e-mail addresses and passwords. It may be easier for them to cut and paste the passwords at first to avoid mistakes, and then can change passwords once they're in.

Mitch Given = mgiven@scoho.org
Password = ihibPd3$1

Trevor Vessels = tvessels@scoho.org
Password = nd(Fx5hdD

Please make sure to send them the attached "how to access" guide as well.

Hopefully they should be good to go.

Let me know if anyone's got trouble.

How to access SCO e-mail address from the internet. This is for remote access to your SCO e-mail address from any internet-enabled location. You will have access to "Outlook-light" – not a fully-functioning version of Outlook but similar.

1. Access the internet and go to Intermedia website (<http://owa.intermedia.net>).
2. You will see a welcome screen that looks like this:

3. To access your e-mail, make sure that "Webmail" is highlighted.
4. Enter your e-mail address (Login) and password (Password).
5. Click the Login button.

6. Your e-mail program will come up and look like this:

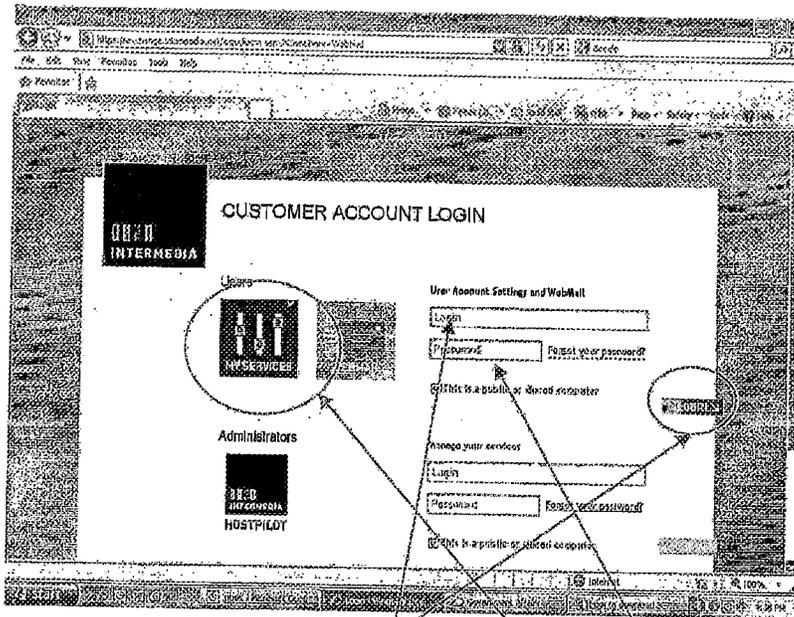

This Outlook web access has many similar features and functions to a desktop version of Outlook but is less powerful. It can be used the same way that Outlook is for sending and receiving and archiving e-mails.

If you would rather download your SCO e-mail profile to your full-function desktop Outlook, follow the alternative instructions below.

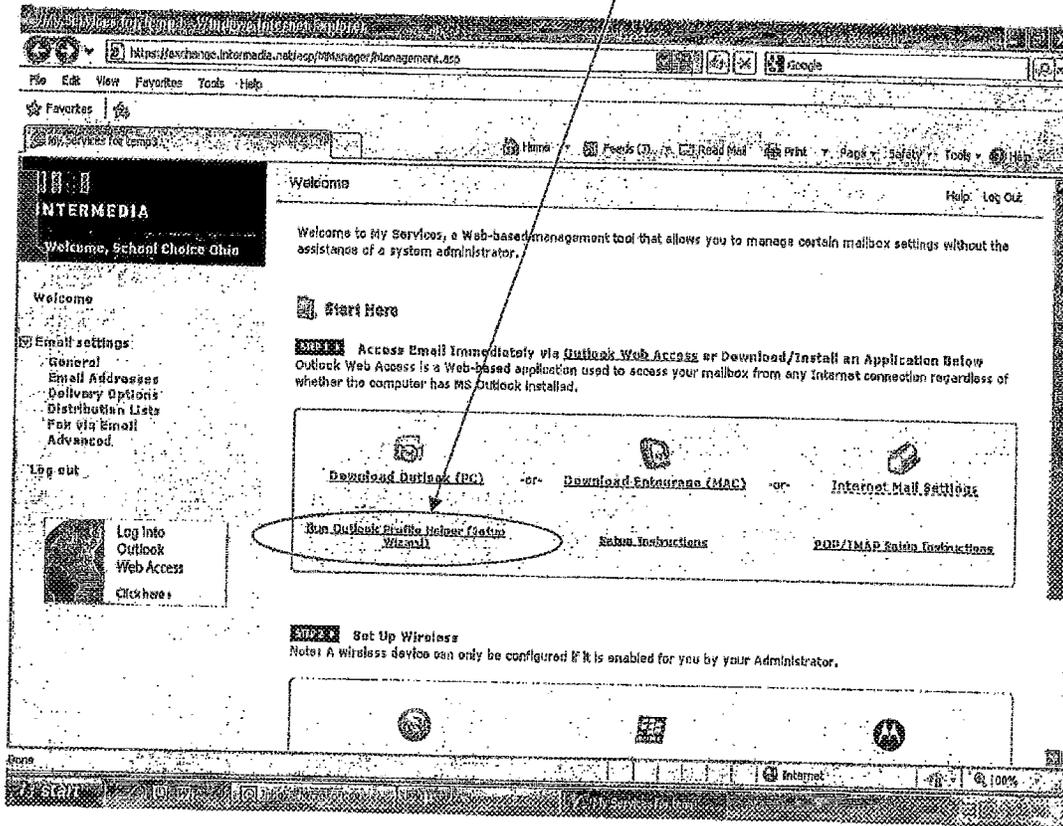

To download SCO e-mail profile to Outlook for the first time (Please note that if you have another e-mail address currently set up on your computer's Outlook program, this process will eliminate it and will only work with your SCO e-mail address. If you do not wish to eliminate your other e-mail address profiles, you cannot use this process.)

1. Access the internet and go to Intermedia website (<http://owa.intermedia.net>).
2. You will see a welcome screen that looks like this:

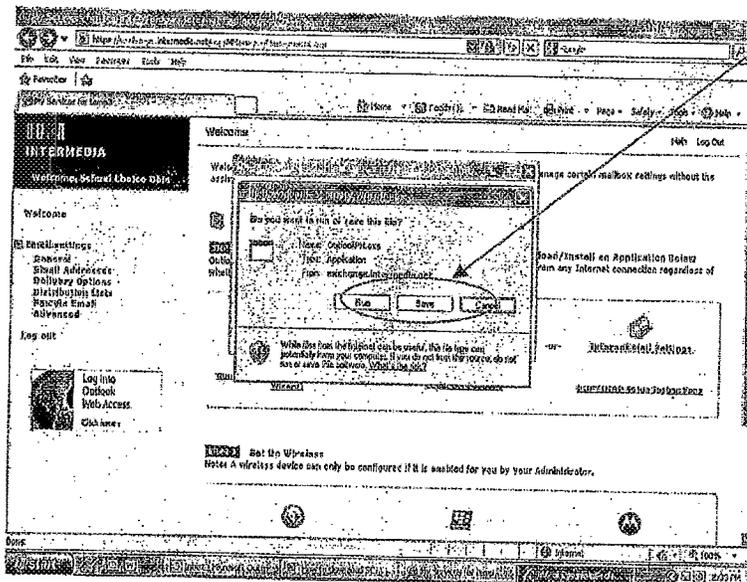

3. To access your e-mail, make sure that "My Services" is highlighted.
4. Enter your e-mail address (Login) and password (Password).
5. Click the Login button.

6. You will see the following screen, and you will click on Run Outlook Profile Helper (Setup Wizard):

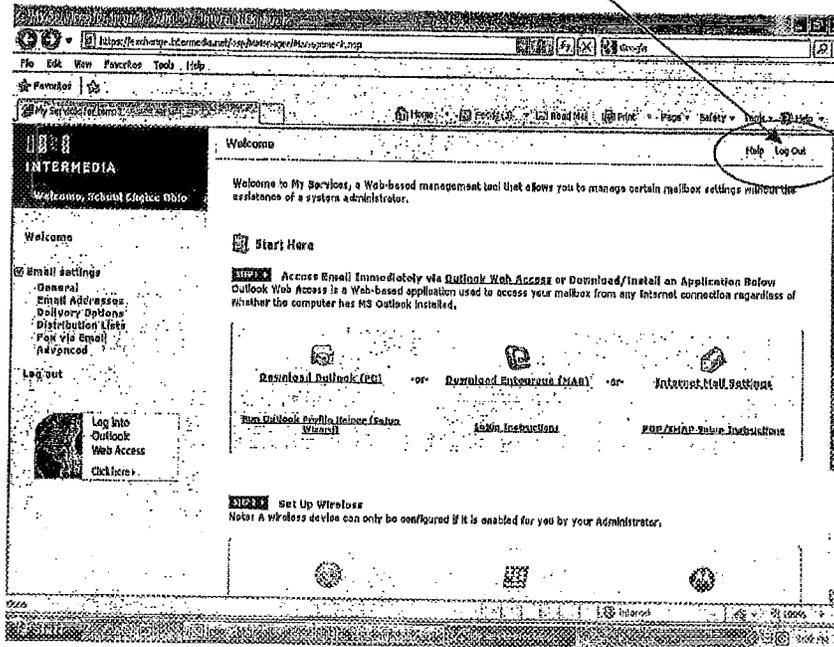

7. You will be asked to Run, Save, or Cancel OutlookPH.exe. Click "Save".

8. You can save OutlookPH.exe anywhere on your computer that you like. Just remember where you put it because you'll need to find it again.

9. Once you've completed the download, log out from Intermedia and close out of the Internet.

9. Find the OutlookPH.exe file where you saved it on your computer (probably need to go to My Computer on the Start menu to locate it).

10. Double click on OutlookPH.exe and click Yes to all questions that follow.

11. You will eventually be asked to enter your e-mail address and password again, and at that time your SCO e-mail profile should be set up on your computer's Outlook program.

12. A shortcut to Outlook should also appear on your desktop when you are done. If not, you may need to access Outlook from your Start menu.

This sounds like an issue that's been cropping up with Adobe Reader 10. Please try the following:

1. Open Adobe reader.
2. Click on "edit" then "preferences" then "General."

4. Re-open one of the problematic .PDF files and see if the error still occurs.

There if you look at the categories below the folder list in the lefthand pane, there should be either an option labeled "Folder List" just below "notes," or a small icon of a folder at the very bottom. Click on this to reveal all the folders. In the folder list, click the plus sign next to "Public Folders" to display all the public folders. Click on the public folder to load it. I usually recommend right-clicking on any of the folders you use and choosing the option to add it as a favorite.

If the phone number's been changed then you can go ahead and create the email account. This is normally done from "Set up email," "email setup" from the main page. On newer phones you have to go to "setup" and then "mail." If you've recently wiped the phone, these icons may not appear until you turn on the phone's wireless service. If you haven't wiped the phone, you may want to just get the old contacts and calendar out of it and to restore the phone to its factory state.

Once you create a tmo.blackberry.net account, you'll want to click the "edit" option to the right of the account and change its reply-to address to match the corresponding scohio.org account.

Documents and Outlook data are easy to copy from computer to computer, but programs not so much. You'll need to locate the original discs for Publisher and Microsoft Office so we can install it on her new computer.

If it's a Dell computer, we normally order Office at the same time as the computer in order to get a deep discount, but the disc will be in a generic-looking cardboard sleeve instead of the large retail box.

Hi Clay,
Hope you are well.

Thanks again for all the help with the Raiser's Edge install last week. I'm slowly getting data in, but it's working great so far.

New item: we have purchased new laptops for Sarah and Chad and so we need to start the round robin of machines going.

1. We need everything transferred over from her old machine to new (programs, files, profiles, etc).
2. Her old machine will also need to be scrubbed back to basics to be reissued.

3. Chad also has an old machine that has had all its main stuff transferred, except for its Publisher license.
4. Once that's done, then the old machine needs scrubbed back to basics for reissue.

Sarah is out all day today and I'd be happy to drop off both of her machines to you for the job. If today's not good, how about Monday of next week? She's out again that day.

Not sure about the Chad/Publisher switch. If you can talk me through it or come over to do it on site at some point, that might be easier. Once Publisher is off the old machine, you can take it away to scrub it at your leisure.

Let me know what works for all of this.

Many thanks.

Jeff

Documents and Outlook data are easy to copy from computer to computer, but programs not so much. You'll need to locate the original discs for Publisher and Microsoft Office so we can install it on her new computer.

If it's a Dell computer, we normally order Office at the same time as the computer in order to get a deep discount, but the disc will be in a generic-looking cardboard sleeve instead of the large retail box.

Hi Clay,
Hope you are well.

Thanks again for all the help with the Raiser's Edge install last week. I'm slowly getting data in, but it's working great so far.

New item: we have purchased new laptops for Sarah and Chad and so we need to start the round robin of machines going.

1. We need everything transferred over from her old machine to new (programs, files, profiles, etc).
2. Her old machine will also need to be scrubbed back to basics to be reissued.
3. Chad also has an old machine that has had all its main stuff transferred, except for its Publisher license.
4. Once that's done, then the old machine needs scrubbed back to basics for reissue.

Sarah is out all day today and I'd be happy to drop off both of her machines to you for the job. If today's not good, how about Monday of next week? She's out again that day.

Not sure about the Chad/Publisher switch. If you can talk me through it or come over to do it on site at some point, that might be easier. Once Publisher is off the old machine, you can take it away to scrub it at your leisure.

Let me know what works for all of this.

Many thanks.

Jeff

Hi Jeff,

Thanks again for your time today. I think we made a lot of progress in reviewing your data and mapping it to the appropriate fields in The Raiser's Edge. I wanted to send a follow-up email simply outlining our next steps and to provide you the revised mapping document. As you will see, I have moved around some of the fields in the mapping document to keep similar fields (i.e. last name, first name, and nickname) together.

Next Steps

- Jeff to install The Raiser's Edge on the SCO server and confirm he is able to log into the new, blank database (not the sample database, which will also be available) *please let me know if you have any trouble or need assistance
- Lisa to mock up a sample record with the mapping discussed and present to Jeff
 - MEETING: Friday, 4/15 2pm-4pm EST. Will review sample record and begin setting up attributes, batch etc if time allows
- Set up required attributes, fund records, appeal records, and constituent batch template
 - MEETING: We will cover what we can on Friday, however I have a flexible schedule the afternoons of 4/19 and 4/21 if we need to grab some time then

- Following the set up of the above, we will then schedule time to configure other areas outlined in your Scope of Work: security (database logins), business rules, thank you letters, additional funds and appeals, reports, and queries.

If you'd like, before we meet on 4/15, you can begin entering the table values in your spreadsheet into the database.

The tables I would begin populating in Config>Tables are:

- Constituent Codes (enter all your categories here)
- Sources (this is for your ranking – I'd enter "Internal Rating")
- Ratings (Here I'd enter "Support Ranking" and make it a table with the same name – go to the bottom of the table list to add a new table)
- Support Ranking (Enter your values -5 to +5)
- Counties
- Regions
- Phone Types (ensure Home, Mobile, Office, Fax, Email 1, Email 2, and Website are in the table)
- Gift Codes (just enter either "Online" or "Website" for now)

Any tables tied to attributes (such as OH House District) we will do together as we will need to set up the attributes first. Please let me know if you have any questions about the above, otherwise I look forward to working with you next week!

Kind regards,
Lisa

I could use some on-site assistance in installing the Raiser's Edge software on our server. According to the instructions it needs to be on the server and accessible to certain folks to then "deploy" from the server to their machines.

I just can't figure it out on my own. I've installed and de-installed it three times trying to get it right.

Please let me know when you or someone there are available this week to assist.

Every program is different, I'll have to either call support or see if they have support documents on their website. If this is a database there is usually a special process you have to follow in order to set up the database location and the network share on the server. Keep in mind when you run the installer the "Program Location" is not typically where the actual data is stored, it's stored in the "database location."

Jeff,

I have a replacement hard drive ready. Installing it will involve powering down the server so the network drives will be down momentarily. When is a good time for me to come in and finish this up for you?

Hi guys,
Just wanted to electronically introduce you to SCO's new Communications Coordinator – Kaleigh Frazier.

She will soon be the main point of contact here for website updating and whatnot.

I keep forgetting your newest staff member's name so if you can forward that to Kaleigh so she's got him on the electronic horizon that would be great.

Thanks!

Kaleigh Frazier = kfrazier@schoho.org.

Just wondering if that can happen today or tomorrow. She starts Friday.

Thanks.

I was able to connect using an FTP client with those credentials. Creating storage.schoho.org was just a way to make it easier to enter and remember. If you want to use the IP address instead it's 173.201.0.1. Also, the password is tricky, so if you didn't paste it try entering it that way instead.

The data is back on the FTP server and I've set up the hosting. I can establish remote connections to your computers as they become available and configure the Expandrive clients remotely, or I can come on site. Unless most of the laptops are physically on site it'd be more time effective to arrange to connect remotely. Please let me know how and when you'd like to proceed.

Jeff,

I went over this with Mike, I didn't realize you were getting two of our $10 hosting fees per month to cover the cost of both the website, which is on our Rackspace account and the ftp service. Since it's under our account, Godaddy normally does everything through our card and they don't support invoicing people separately. The phone rep I was dealing with offered to put the charge on a separate card and I still have his contact info, so if you want you can pre-pay for whatever duration you want and I'll drop the hosting fee to one $10 per month charge instead, or we can go back to doing this the previous method. If you decide to pre-pay please contact me by phone with your card info as email is unencrypted.

We are billing them 2x$10 a month for hosting (companies layout > Static bills tab), I'm pretty sure the second $10 was to cover the godaddy hosting.

I apologize and I'm sorry for my role in this, Sam dumped an incredible amount of stuff on me to do yesterday, I was here till 7:30 last night and back at 7:30 this morning, and trying to train that yost guy for two hours cut into that a lot.

Hence the headphones with white noise trying to play catch up today.

It's the sFTP virtual drive, hosting is through godaddy:

GoDaddy Hosting Login:

If it's a password issue, I would check to see if their godaddy credit card elapsed or something.

Don't know what if anything you can do to recycle or otherwise do away with that deceased laptop you have once the data has been recovered from it, but it is yours to do as you wish with.

We will write off the remaining depreciation value after that.

Thanks.

Also, probably good for me to go through a list of them all and see which ones we don't need anymore. Can you send me a list of them when you get a sec please.

You can save the files by replacing the dash with an underscore. If one of the computers was able to save and open files using the dash, then use that computer to rename the files so the other users can open them. If none of the computers are able to open some of the files then you may have problems with the filesystem on the server.

Hey guys,
Got a crazy problem here that I cannot figure out.

Certain files we are attempting to save in various folders are either not being allowed to be saved because they have dashes and/or numbers in the names (I like to date files as 1-18-11, etc – can't tell from the error messages whether it's the numbers or the dashes causing the trouble). Or worse, files that had been saved for weeks or months with numbers and dashes in them are now unable to be accessed, even though we know that they have been accessible with those names before.

If we rename those troublesome old files, taking out both the numbers and the dashes, they can usually be opened up again but can't be saved down with numbers/dashes in them.

Any thoughts?

Thanks.

Jeff

Hi Clay,
Happy New Year! Hope all is well with you.

We are having a blackberry problem...with a blackberry we're not using! And we hope you can help.

Apparently all of Chad's e-mail messages (whether Droid-sent or Outlook-sent) are still going through the old tmo.blackberry account as well and are now returning as bouncebacks as the old blackberry has been shut up in a drawer since you were here to set up the new phone.

Can you help us out?

Thanks.

P.S. – He's also got a personal PC that got fried and wondered if he might be able to drop it off to you tonight to check it over if that's cool with you?

Hi guys,
Not sure which of you to ask, but I've managed to contract some malware that is loving to redirect my web searches today.

My home page will load up fine and I can easily navigate to saved pages directly. It's when I search (I use Yahoo) and then click on a search result that I get redirected to fairly random pages.

I got an updated version of AdAware and ran it and did AVG scans as well and while they found a couple things, the problem persists.

Any suggestions/assistance you can give would be greatly appreciated.

Thanks.

Hi Mike,
I'm completely stumped after lots of trying and I need your help.

I'm trying to set up Outlook on a new computer for Shari Perkins. Outlook was present when I got it and it is sticking to its guns as far as not changing settings to the ones I've downloaded from Intermedia (as with all other installs I've done).

I've tried to manually load the user with the info from Intermedia but am getting stopped each time because she's "unrecognized".

Can you help remotely or do I need to get this computer over to you?

Thanks.

Just wanted to suggest that if you have the time, I'd love to get rid of that DO NOT USE profile on there and have only Lindsey's profile on it. I kept trying the usual way to get rid of the other profile but couldn't. The best I could do was to label it as I did.

Jeff, if it says there are too many connections, then it's probably gone past the 10 user limit, or at least it thinks it has from computers that didn't log out properly (example someone shuts the lid on a laptop and walks out with it). Assuming you're still using the Windows XP pro computer that's acting as a server, you should be able to resolve the issue by asking users to close out of their open files and then reboot the server.

Mike and Clay, I have been getting this bounceback in regard to the abush @ schoio.org e-mail address since we started it up.

At first I thought it had to do with the blackberry hook in but I've totally undone it and still the stupid thing won't work.

Can you both look at this e-mail address as it's set up and see if there's something else wrong.

Thanks.

Hi Mike,
Needed to give you a heads up about a blackberry change and ask for a bit of assistance.

A month or so ago Clay helped me set up two new blackberries. Well, agriffin @ scoho.org has quit and we have reassigned her blackberry to abush@scoho.org.

I have set up her mobile address as abush@tmo.blackberry.net and she can send out but doesn't receive her regular SCO e-mails on the blackberry. As I recall, it was something that Clay did at the Intermedia admin page to make that happen.

Can you do that for me or should I ask Clay?

Thanks.

Jeff,

Turns out Microsoft ditched "upgrade" pricing with 2010. The options that works for you are the license for Office Professional 2010 at $499., which includes powerpoint, publisher and also access, on top of word excel and outlook.

There is also the "home and business" version of 2010 that is $279.95 (download version), but does not come with publisher. Publisher 2010 could be purchased separately at $139.99, which would make it still be cheaper than the office pro license.

I was also able to find a copy of office 2010 for $219.99, disc version with free shipping (amazon.com), but that price probably fluctuates a lot.

Add $13.99 for the media for any download version from microsoft (DVD and case) to be sent out, and add $85 for one hour of our labor to help install and configure the program.

If you want to order direct through amazon, I can send you a link to what I found. Amazon also has publisher @ $139.99

Thanks,

Mike Beargie

Just because a friend sent it doesn't mean it's legit. For the past month and a half I've been dealing with users getting/sending viruses over Facebook. Mostly they come in from a trusted friend with the subject line indicating a photo has been added or updated. By the time you realize what's happened, everyone in your FaceBook contacts have been emailed links to viruses as well.

I'm already booked for between 11:30 and 1:30 tomorrow, but I can come down after that if you'd like, or if you can be without the laptop you can have someone drop it off at our office in the morning or at the end of the day today. I'm sure Cheryl relies heavily on the laptop and we'll definitely make it a priority to get it back up and running for you.

There is always a chance that the computer's operating system has become damaged and that we'll wind up having to backup/reformat, so if you can locate you MS Office discs, as well as any other software that's loaded on the computer it may save us some time. Thanks,

You are not hosting with IHost, but they do have control over your domain names. I know we had to renew all of them recently, which is likely what those charges are.

Hi Clay,
Just checking on the status of our contact with I Host X Treme.

Are they still hosting us or were you able to make the change?

Will we be getting billed again by them? We have seen 3 charges of $9.95 from them (1 each for schoio.org, schoolchoiceohio.org and schoolchoiceadvocates.org, right).

Is that it or will be seeing more?

Thanks for the update.

Hey Clay,

We are having suspicions that some e-mails sent to some of our scoho addresses late yesterday (perhaps around 5:20 pm?) did not arrive in our Inboxes.

Is there any way to look at our Exchange system for that time period to see if there's any evidence of downtime? Wonder if it could be related to the website being down?

We would appreciate any insight on this.

Thanks.

Attachments: Mailboxes.pdf

Jeff, I've attached a breakdown of how much storage each mailbox is using. It didn't seem Intermedia is giving you a lot of storage, at least not compared to most plans offered in the last year or two. I called Intermedia and they indicated they now have newer more competitive plans, but not for Exchange 2003. Migrating from Exchange 03 to 07 is not very difficult, but it does involve at least three labor hours and a bit of email downtime.

You can decrease the amount of space the mailboxes are using by having users clean out their mailboxes and empty their deleted items, or you can lower the autoarchive by a month or two. If you do nothing, Intermedia will increase the amount of storage you have which will add about $10 to your monthly bill.

The bank card is entered into the web-based control panel. I can either get the new card from you over the phone, or if you'd like I can give you the credentials to access the control panel. If you do want access to the control panel please be very careful what you change, as it is possible to do a lot of damage by changing settings.

1. We got a warning about exceeding file capacity yesterday and it would help us if we knew who the culprit was. I don't seem to have access to the account management stuff and couldn't check. Do you have that and can you check on our file capacity for us?
2. We are in the process of changing to a new bank and have a new bank card that we would like our Intermedia bills directed to. I assume that's also controlled in the account management stuff. Let me know how best to go about making that change.

Thanks.

Hi guys,

We've had a request from some constituents far away from Columbus to professionally tape their own interviews (one of them is a local TV news guy) and give us the footage to edit along with the ones we're going to tape ourselves.

If we were to have them go ahead with this, what would you require from them? Electronic files? Certain resolutions? Certain lengths?

Let me know what you think.

We'd like everyone to be heard, but I don't want to introduce outside elements if it would make this too hard.

Thanks for the advice.

Jeff

Hey Sam,
Just to clarify, we are looking for multiple short individual pieces as a final result, not one or two montages.
I.e. "Click here to listen to Justin's story", "Click here to see/hear Amy's story", etc etc etc.

Thanks.

Ihostxtreme is a local internet service provider that School Choice used before we were their IT provider. We have not gotten the most responsive service from them. If the site is registered on Godaddy, we have a bit more control over it. Registering a domain name simply means that you own it. The company housing the server that actually holds and delivers the website is known as the webhost. The actual scoho.org website is hosted on our server at Rackspace, so you will need to log into the godaddy.com account you used to register the domain, and set schoolchoiceohio.org's DNS servers to NS.RACKSPACE.COM and NS2.RACKSPACE.COM.

Normally a client will ask us to register a domain and I'll add it to our Godaddy account so we can manage it, but Sarah emailed me after hours and I wanted her to register the domain name on her own before it got snatched up. If you don't want to manage it yourself we can always transfer it to our Godaddy account, or if you have trouble setting up the DNS you can call and I'll step you through the process. Thanks,

Hi Clay,

I know Sarah was in touch with you about registering schoolchoiceohio.org and I see how we can do that on godaddy.

I was curious as to what we get for that. Our current domain name is registered by IhostXtreme, not us. What difference does that make?

If SCO registers the new domain, we can't actually put a site up on it just like that, can we? There's much more to it than that, isn't there?

Thanks for the info.

Hi Chad,

Andrew, Corey, and I just spoke about the SCO website and your tweaks to the final site. Corey will be working on the majority of the edits this week. While he can incorporate many of the changes now, there are a few that cannot be made until you supply us with information. Below is the list that comes to mind:

1. Quotes that you want to post to the front page (Corey will have all of the pictures inside the site rotate with the front page picture to maintain professionalism on the site.)
2. Research for the Research Section
3. All addresses and websites (if you want to include them) for the EdChoice schools that you want plotted on a Google map

In order for Corey to complete the rest of the new Sign Up features we discussed on Thursday, he will need access to your server. He will be in touch with you for next steps later today.

I'm really pleased how this is all coming together! Thanks so much for your patience and thoughtfulness on this project!!

Andrew,

Let me start by reiterating how pleased I am with what you and your team have done on the website. It is a high quality and professional communication tool. In fact, without any substantive changes, I would be proud to "go live" with it today as our organization's website. That being said, just as you took very seriously your role in developing the site we have also contemplated some ways it might be able to be improved. Obviously, a lot of what is possible will be determined by time, expertise, cost, etc.

Without further ado, we have broken our comments into 3 main categories: Layout, Functions, and Questions.

Layout

- Looking for a way to have something that changes on the front page. This would create a vibrant look and ensure the page doesn't look static. Some suggestions we have would be a collection of facts (did you know's), quotes, videos (in the future), or news links directly on the front page.

- To accommodate this, would the main picture need to be made smaller or some other mechanism be used like the quote fading in? Not sure how this is done, but you guys are the experts on what is possible.
- Add a research section in about school choice (I can send the content material); it should also be linked to from the Reporters section.

Functions

- Under EdChoice, a place parents could enter their address and find participating private schools within a 5 or 10 mile radius. OAPCS, a partner group that works with charter schools, has this feature. Incidentally, when a parent puts their address in could we store the address behind the scenes? It would make for some effective marketing behind the scenes. Ideally, the private school icon on the map would link to the school's website. Of course, we would come up with those URLs.
- Would like to have a place for a director's blog. We would like for that to be an area where I draft an entry or 2 each week and allow for comments.
- Google map of SCO's location and directions from the Interstate/airport on the about us page
- Link from parent area to contact us form to facilitate parents asking questions
- General signup for a "Friends of School Choice" group; current signup under advocates might be enough--open to discussion; would parents necessarily go to the "For advocates" section?
- Under Voices of School Choice place to submit quote or success story; should this also be under parent area? "Would you like to share your success story or tell us why school choice is important for you and your child.."
- Online Donations--not currently working (I figured you know that and it is a part of it being a work in progress and not on final server)
- A printer version feature might be useful with the main information contained in a center frame on many of the pages
- Email this page feature

Questions

- At the beginning, we discussed SCO having the ability to update content, etc. going forward. What type of training would we need to do that?
- Are any type of instructions needed to work with the website in its current structure if a change is needed? For example, is any special information regarding website structure necessary if we were going to add another orange section (on front page) dealing with charter schools? (Incidentally, that is merely an example and not something we want done)
- We are working on the development of a password protected database/interface of Ohio legislators that SCO and its partner organizations could access and make comments to. Essentially, it will be a means of sharing candid information and observations on Members involving school choice views, statements, etc. Can you think of a way it could be worked into (accessed through) our website? This may be very simple, but I am not a web developer--which goes without saying.
- We are working on establishing some parent advocacy groups in a few cities. One of the things we are working on is an online communication tool for parents. Is that a link that could be worked into our advocacy section?
- Would like to discuss what type of viral presence would be helpful? Should SCO start a Facebook type page for parents and/or schools? Is there an easier interface/tool for people to use? Is it better to contract for the development of a protected social network for parents or protected chat space for school leaders? What is ASC doing in this regard that might be applicable? We are hoping to generate interest and discussion through a feature similar to this. Would a message board on the website be simpler? In your experience, are they used?

As you can tell from the feedback we are giving, there is very little included about content. This is largely because the information included is factually accurate and well written. Any tweaks needed for consistency or because new information has been developed to assist parents can be added as we go.

Thanks again, and let me know if you have any questions. Of course, Lori and I can discuss on Thursday as well.

I have forwarded the link along to my team, and they are reviewing for content (as will I). We could probably finish and have some suggestions by Friday, but in case things come up that take us away from this—would Monday work to discuss?

We really appreciate the hard work and professionalism you have put forth to develop a new website for our organization. We look forward to working with you on the final changes.

Here is the link to the School Choice Ohio Web site. We have completed the text and the graphics, and Lori has reviewed the content, as well. I really like the site, and I think Corey has done a very nice job in developing a compelling look.

We look forward to your feedback on content. Once you have a chance to take a look at this, let us know what changes you'd suggest, and we'll set a timeframe to get these done very quickly for you.

When reviewing the site, you don't need to review for spelling or grammar. After we incorporate your changes, we will have our professional proofreading firm review the site and make those edits.

When would be a good time to follow up with you for edits?

Best,
Andrew

- Looking for a way to have something that changes on the front page. This would create a vibrant look and ensure the page doesn't look static. Some suggestions we have would be a collections of facts (did you know's), quotes, videos (in the future), or news links directly on the front page.
- To accommodate this, would the main picture need to be made smaller or some other mechanism be used like the quote fading in? Not sure how this is done, but you guys are the experts on what is possible.
- Add a research section in about school choice (I can send the content material); it should also be linked to from the Reporters section.

Functions

- Under EdChoice, a place parents could enter their address and find participating private schools within a 5 or 10 mile radius. OAPCS, a partner group that works with charter schools, has this feature. Incidentally, when a parent puts their address in could we store the address behind the scenes? It would make for some effective marketing behind the scenes. Ideally, the private school icon on the map would link to the school's website. Of course, we would come up with those URLs.
- Would like to have a place for a director's blog. We would like for that to be an area where I draft an entry or 2 each week and allow for comments.

- Google map of SCO's location and directions from the interstate/airport on the about us page
- Link from parent area to contact us form to facilitate parents asking questions
- General signup for a "Friends of School Choice" group; current signup under advocates might be enough—open to discussion; would parents necessarily go to the "For advocates" section?
- Under Voices of School Choice place to submit quote or success story; should this also be under parent area? "Would you like to share your success story or tell us why school choice is important for you and your child..."
- Online Donations—not currently working (I figured you know that and it is a part of it being a work in progress and not on final server)
- A printer version feature might be useful with the main information contained in a center frame on many of the pages
- Email this page feature

Questions

- At the beginning, we discussed SCO having the ability to update content, etc. going forward. What type of training would we need to do that?
- Are any type of instructions needed to work with the website in its current structure if a change is needed? For example, is any special information regarding website structure necessary if we were going to add another orange section (on front page) dealing with charter schools? (Incidentally, that is merely an example and not something we want done)
- We are working on the development of a password protected database/interface of Ohio legislators that SCO and its partner organizations could access and make comments to. Essentially, it will be a means of sharing candid information and observations on Members involving school choice views, statements, etc. Can you think of a way it could be worked into (accessed through) our website? This may be very simple, but I am not a web developer—which goes without saying.
- We are working on establishing some parent advocacy groups in a few cities. One of the things we are working on is an online communication tool for parents. Is that a link that could be worked into our advocacy section?
- Would like to discuss what type of viral presence would be helpful? Should SCO start a Facebook type page for parents and/or schools? Is there an easier interface/tool for people to use? Is it better to contract for the development of a protected social network for parents or protected chat space for school leaders? What is ASC doing in this regard that might be applicable? We are hoping to generate interest and discussion through a feature similar to this. Would a message board on the website be simpler? In your experience, are they used?

As you can tell from the feedback we are giving, there is very little included about content. This is largely because the information included is factually accurate and well written. Any tweaks needed for consistency or because new information has been developed to assist parents can be added as we go.

Thanks again, and let me know if you have any questions. Of course, Lori and I can discuss on Thursday as well.

I am actually out of town Monday and Tuesday. Wednesday would work, however.

Thanks,

Andrew,

Wow! It looks really nice. Corey did a good job of coming up with a great look.

I have forwarded the link along to my team, and they are reviewing for content (as will I). We could probably finish and have some suggestions by Friday, but in case things come up that take us away from this—would Monday work to discuss?

We really appreciate the hard work and professionalism you have put forth to develop a new website for our organization. We look forward to working with you on the final changes.

Let me know if any time on Monday will work for you.

Hi Chad,

Here is the link to the School Choice Ohio Web site. We have completed the text and the graphics, and Lori has reviewed the content, as well. I really like the site, and I think Corey has done a very nice job in developing a compelling look.

We look forward to your feedback on content. Once you have a chance to take a look at this, let us know what changes you'd suggest, and we'll set a timeframe to get these done very quickly for you.

When reviewing the site, you don't need to review for spelling or grammar. After we incorporate your changes, we will have our professional proofreading firm review the site and make those edits.

Here is the link: <http://www.schoolchoice101.com/schoho/>

When would be a good time to follow up with you for edits?

Best,
Andrew

Hi guys,

Back from vacation. Finding that our AVG license renewal is $101 dollars through Grisoft, which seems a bit high.

Do you know if that covers all of our computers that are showing a lapsed license or is it $101 for each computer?

Thanks for the info.

The licenses must be renewed. I can come on site or connect remotely to renew the license if you'd like. The process is not overly technical, you click the renew button below the warning message which will bring up the webpage for purchasing the renewal. The new license key is emailed, and then you can paste it into the software. Let me know if you want to move forward and we'll schedule a time.

waiting until the volume license expires and adding him at that time. Listing a product for home use tends to be a deterrent for 500+ user companies from using the software.

Clay,

At this point, my credit card has been cancelled. We've set up net-30 or net-60 accounts with all our vendors.

If it's something you need paid for in advance of ordering, just invoice us, we'll pay you, and then you can order it. If it's something you can order for us and then invoice us, great.

Amy

Hello Amy, I still need to buy MS Office 03 for your new computer. I was originally going to use your card, but since we ordered the flat panel I do not want to go forward without checking with you. Please let me know how you want us to order the software. Thanks,

Dell Inc.

You already know Dell offers great quality and great value, but ask me about the benefits of Dell products and services of which you might have been unaware.

OpenManage: Reduce Labor Intensive Tasks

Dell's Client Management solutions are designed to empower IT professionals with an easy to use management suite that can automate traditionally labor-intensive tasks. Administrators can remotely perform many routine IT functions including asset management, configuration management, fault management, and security management. The Dell OpenManage™ suite includes tools for remotely managing assets, initial image deployment, and proactive health monitoring. OpenManage is designed to simplify systems management with easy to use, standards-based, remote management capabilities that have the potential to improve the efficiency of IT resources and, in turn, minimize TCO.

ImageWatch: Reduce Roadmap Ambiguity

Dell's ImageWatch™ service provides qualifying corporate and institutional customers with general notification of technology changes six- to twelve- months prior to their impact on Dell hardware, peripherals and software.

Premier Dell.com: A Valuable Purchasing Management Tool

Premier Dell.com is a customized Web portal that allows qualifying Dell customers access to every aspect of their relationship with Dell 24 hours a day, seven days a week. Customers with Premier Dell.com Web pages and Dell pricing contracts can purchase systems online at their convenience at company-specific prices. Premier Dell.com provides access to purchase and pricing histories and order tracking, too.

Custom Factory Integration: Standardize, Simplify, Lower Costs

One of the most critical facets in lowering TCO is standardizing hardware and software platforms. Reduce hardware diversity and you help reduce service and support costs, streamline upgrades and simplify asset control. CFI enables customers to create customized and standardized hardware configurations, pre-installed with third party proprietary software images. This not only helps lower costs at the deployment phase, delivering systems ready to run right out of the box, but can help to lower TCO over the entire IT lifecycle.

Global Standard Platforms Make Standardization and Transitions Easy

A global standard platform is a Dell product platform whose availability will be synchronized worldwide. This enables companies to roll-out standard configurations across multiple countries and continents. Global standard configurations remain available in quantity from at least nine to 12 months, with a minimum 60-day transition period between configurations. This adds order and predictability to the IT management process.

Financing Plans: Reduce Your Total Cost of Ownership

Dell Financial Services L. P. (DFS) offers a variety of financing plans that can help you in the management of your acquisition and disposal needs while maximizing your return on IT investment.

Hi Clay,

Could you clarify what changes you made with the temp e-mail address? A follow-up confirmation would have been helpful.

2. Suggest "spechan@scohoio.org" mailbox user to reduce the mailbox size by archiving/deleting old data through MS Outlook.

Please refer to the following article on the question how to archive your folders automatically:
<http://www.intermedia.net/support/kb/default.asp?id=766>

Clearing out old messages will help, especially if they have file attachments. An easier way to take care of this is to set Outlook to auto-archive. If you give us a call I can step you through setting it up over the phone.

Hello

According to the article http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/PTR_record#Types_of_DNS_records
A PTR record or pointer record maps an IPv4 address to the canonical name for that host. Setting up a PTR record for a hostname in the in-addr.arpa domain that corresponds to an IP address implements reverse DNS lookup for that address. For example (at the time of writing), www.icann.net has the IP address 192.0.34.164, but a PTR record maps 164.34.0.192.in-addr.arpa to its canonical name, referrals.icann.org.

So if you want to have your own mailserver that sends mail from your domain than you may create a PTR for this host yourself. All the mailservers that send mail from the exchange have their PTR already set up. Thank you for contacting Intermedia.Net technical support

I wish I had more detail, but I don't. It looks like Mark knows what the problem is and could convey it to you.

Subject: Email Follow Up...

I wanted to provide a quick follow up from our recent email woes as well as make myself available to answer any questions you may have regarding the current situation.

First off, as of COB Thursday, I got the OK from Amy that everyone's email was up and running. If this is not the case please let me know, and we will look into it immediately.

Second, I want to provide a little explanation of the situation without unnecessarily complicating matters. Domain admin for scoho.org and compassconsulting.us had been transferred from one provider to another. I-Host extreme is the new provider. The main problem came from the fact that they either did not have the new account setup correctly, or setup at all. Not sure which. However, both accounts are up and running, and we have the necessary authentication codes to get support and answers for any issues you may have.

Next week I will be making a series of recommendations regarding network maintained and some other "good housekeeping" items you may want to take care of. Obviously there is no obligation for any of these services. We simply like to provide new clients with a list of things that will help them ward off trouble in the future.

Again, don't hesitate to call or email (email is usually best) if you have any questions or concerns regarding the transitions.

Thanks again, and I'll talk to you soon.
